MITCHELL'S FUTURE IS PUT UP TO COOLIDGE BY WAR SECRETARY

Move To Quit S. A. High School District

PETITION TO WITHDRAW IS SOON TO BE CIRCULATED

Newport Beach, Paularino, Fairview and Costa Mesa Are Ready to Organize

AREAS INVOLVED CAN FILL REQUIREMENTS

Situation Develops Out of Centralization Bill Introduced In Legislature

THE small minority in both parties which opposes the one policy on which the two parties agree has got up a new slogan: "Is there any issue this country would submit for arbitration to the World Court?"

Probably not. But what of it? There is no room you can light by electric light that you could not light by candles; nothing you can wash off in a modern bath room that your grandfather could not get off in the wash-tub by the kitchen fire; nothing you can figure on the adding machine that you could not compute by hand. The possibility of the worse does not prevent preferring the better.

The United States was the first to see and the most insistent to remove the faults of the Hague. On our motion, the nations are agreed now. Yet it is opposed by a small group of senatorial super-patriots, on the claim that it is "un-American!" And, so far are we from "government by the people" that, with the people and their representatives both for it, this small group, so far, is able to prevent us from getting it. Let it be hoped— not long.

WHAT is the true answer to the questions raised between the army, the navy and the air service, probably nobody yet knows. But what to do about it is plain enough. It is to develop the air service, but to maintain the army and navy too. Other nations have not scrapped warships because they have airships.

Until they do, neither should we. Airplanes may have made battleship obsolete, but we can afford to think so only when our neighbors do. Also no sufficient case has yet been made out for divorcing the air service from the army and navy. There may be arguments for uniting them all in one department. Regardless of prophecies and theories, these are the practical things to do.

And as to the truth behind the quarrels, perhaps the president can find out. Certainly congress cannot. Its police court methods are not adapted to find out truth. They would be inadequate enough, even to criminals, let alone to congressional investigators seen to regard as the chief end of man.

ONCE more "guns." New York police rounded up taxicab drivers and took weapons from such as had them. Here is one class that is completely disarmament. Taxi drivers are a limited group, all accessible and visible. They are subject to be stopped for inspection at any time. Possession of a weapon means forfeiture of license, and driving without a license means trouble. So even bootlegged weapons can be stopped in this one group. And when there are no "guns," there will be no more murders. It is physically possible to kill people a thousand ways, and with the long premeditated and determined murders it may be done. Not with the casual ones, which is nearly all. As to these—no guns; no murder.

HIGHWAY OPENING ATTRACTS THROGS

YUMA, Ariz., Feb. 28.—Thousands of visitors invaded Yuma today by motor and train to celebrate formal opening of the last remaining link in the California-Arizona highway, connecting three transcontinental routes.

Both governors Hunt and Richardson were on hand to make addresses and cement friendship of the two states. Preparations were made to entertain and feed 10,000 persons at a big barbecue at Sunset park.

An excursion train from San Diego arrived at daybreak, bringing hundreds of visitors who paraded through downtown streets, led by a steam calliope and brass band.

The new highway extends from Phoenix to San Diego, and closes the last bad California gap in the Bankhead, Lee and old Spanish trails, continental routes. The road is paved from Phoenix to Hassayampa, a distance of 50 miles, and from Hassayampa to San Diego is macadam surfaced.

'PADRE OF RAINS' PREDICTS STORMS

SANTA CLARA, Calif., Feb. 28.—Five storms are predicted for March by Father Jerome K. Richard of Santa Clara, "Padre of the Rains," in his monthly weather forecast, issued today.

The period from March 24 to March 28 will be one of severe weather on sea and land, the padre predicted. Other storms are expected on March 2, March 7, March 20 and March 30. Most of them extend from the Canadian border to San Francisco or beyond.

"This year the month will 'come in like a lamb and go out like a lion,'" the padre said.

"30" BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The coast guard cutter Apache was sent today to the aid of an unnamed Munson line steamer, reported aground on the west side of Chesapeake Bay between Point Lookout and Point No Point.

NEW SPEAKER

NICHOLAS LONGWORTH

The son-in-law of the late Theodore Roosevelt will preside over the next session of the national house of representatives by virtue of his election by the Republican caucus last night.

The caucus nominees will be elected because of the large majority of Republicans in the lower branch of the national legislature.

LONGWORTH IS SELECTED FOR HOUSE SPEAKER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Nicholas Longworth of Ohio will preside over the next house and John Q. Tilson of Connecticut will be majority floor leader.

Republicans of the next house nominated them in caucus last night and because of the decisive Republican majority in the next congress, nominations are tantamount to election. Democrats will meet tonight to go through the formality of choosing their candidates.

Longworth defeated his only opponent, Martin Madden of Illinois, 140 to 50 on the first ballot. Tilson was named by acclamation. Representative Snell, New York, having previously withdrawn.

U. S. TO PROTEST JAPANESE ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The United States Government will protest to Japan if the Diet there passes the government bill which lifts the ban on land ownership by aliens but permits discrimination against Americans, it was learned today.

While admitting Japan's right to retaliatory discrimination against such states as California, this government will insist that citizens of other states receive the same reciprocal rights as other foreigners. The American argument will be based on the Japanese note of February 21, 1911, relating to the treaty of that year, implying such rights.

"Arrow Highway" Opening Set for Saturday, Mar. 28

The "Arrow Highway" between Santa Ana and Long Beach, will be open to travel Saturday, March 28, a month from today, it was made known by J. L. McBride, county superintendent of highways, who announced that the Griffith company, contractors on the West Seventeenth street project, finished pouring concrete today.

The construction work covers five miles extending west on Seventeenth street from the Santa Ana city limits to Westminster boulevard, where it meets the present boulevard.

PRESIDENT OF GERMANY DIES START BRIBERY PROBE MONDAY

EBERT'S END COMES WHEN RALLY FAILS

Death Follows Turn For Better; 8-Day Period of Mourning Is Set

BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Frederich Ebert, president of the German republic, is dead.

The end came this morning to the remarkable man who started his life as a saddle maker's apprentice and lived to see the German empire overthrown and himself named first head of the new democracy.

The cabinet has decreed eight days of national mourning as a tribute to the dead president.

Suddenly stricken ill Monday night and operated on Tuesday morning, Ebert weathered the ensuing critical days until early today when a sudden relapse occurred as physicians were beginning to restore hope of his recovery.

His sturdy physique, weakened by the poison of peritonitis, failed to rally and he died at 10:15 a. m.

Fran Ebert, his son and daughter and his son-in-law and Secretary of State Meisner were present at the deathbed.

An official bulletin said Ebert died without regaining consciousness, the agony of his pain over-coming him early this morning.

It was understood a Catholic bishop was in the sanatorium but was not summoned.

At 11 o'clock last night Ebert said he was feeling very well and asked doctors to give him a sleeping powder so that his rest might be unbroken during the night.

Awakes With Fever. "Soon this whole nonsense will be ended," he said. The patient awoke at 4 a. m., however, with an alarming high fever. Physicians found peritonitis again raging and worked constantly over him but at 7 a. m. the case was diagnosed as hopeless.

The death symptoms set in soon after. The sudden turn in the president's condition was unexpected.

Although not until Thursday did his consultants admit Ebert's recovery was in doubt, it was believed the crisis had passed Thursday night and subsequent official bulletins were for the most part encouraging.

DIES TODAY

FREDERICH EBERT

Ebert, the president of the German republic, died early this morning from peritonitis. He went from saddle maker's apprentice to president of his country.

EMPLOY RADIO IN SANTA ANA LETTER DRIVE

Marconi's wonderful invention—the wireless—will be employed in broadcasting to all parts of the world Santa Ana booster letters, it was learned today at the campaign headquarters of the "Santa Ana Letter Writing Day."

This service will be given the community by Keith Beisel, 417 Cypress avenue, who operates a licensed 50-watt broadcasting station.

"Now is the time to write that letter to the friend back east you thought of writing several months ago," was the gentle reminder given Santa Ana citizens today by the committee in charge of the campaign.

Expect 10,000 Letters. Collections made last night brought in a respectable load of letters and postcards addressed to all sections of the country. It was estimated today that on the mailing night of March 4, the total collection will run close to 10,000 messages.

An outstanding feature of the letter-writing campaign is the various window displays of the leading commercial establishments in the business district. Receiving much favorable comment are displays at Horton's furniture store, North Main street, Rankins, Vandermaast & Son, Hill & Carden, Victor Walker, Beisel's, W. A. Huff, Sam Stein, Hill & Son and others.

Not "Come-ye-All" Drive. Correcting an apparent misunderstanding as to the purpose of the campaign, R. L. Bisby, president of the Santa Ana Advertising club, said today that it should not be confused with a "come ye all to California" invitation that eventually would fill the highways with broken-down flivvers and people seeking employment.

"There are already too many unemployed people here to induce others to come here. What we want out here is the right kind of travel and home-seekers who are in position to buy homes. In addition to these two classes of newcomers, it goes without saying that we welcome those with capital to invest in agricultural and industrial undertakings."

TWO BANDITS DIE FROM POLICE GUNS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—Two unidentified bandits were shot and killed by officers here early today shortly after they had robbed a downtown drug store.

ASKS LEGAL OPINION ON QUIZ SCOPE

Graves Seeks Information Before Starting Inquiry Into Solon Charges

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 28.—An opinion from the attorney general as to the intent of that portion of the state constitution which refers to the testimony of witnesses before legislative committees in bribery cases where the vote of a legislator is involved, has been asked by Assemblyman Sidney Graves, he admitted today.

Graves is chairman of the Senate investigating committee appointed to probe the alleged plot to extort money from wealthy Chinese herbalists on an anti-herb bill now before the legislature.

The committee has interpreted the constitution to mean that persons appearing before such committees cannot withhold information on the ground they might incriminate themselves, but that the testimony cannot be used against them in criminal proceedings, Graves said.

The investigators begin work Monday at 1:30 p. m. Numerous witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear at the meeting to explain their connection with the alleged plot which has involved Assemblyman Edward Smith, Senator Edgar Hurley and two attorneys.

The district attorneys of Oakland and Sacramento, as well as Police Chief James T. Drew of Oakland have been invited to attend the hearings.

Senate Committee to Meet. The senate "credentials committee" is also scheduled to get under way Monday as soon as the appointment of six other members to work with Senator Ralph Swing, the chairman, has been made.

Swing was author of the resolution which created the committee and which resulted in considerable oratory on the floor of the upper house yesterday morning.

Lobbyists will be required to appear before this body and obtain credentials as "advocates" before being admitted to the floor of the Senate or to the various Senate committee meetings.

Another power of this committee permits them to interrogate the authors of suspected "cinch" bills as to the origin and purpose of their measures.

Screen Actress Says Robber Men Tied, Gagged Her

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28.—Two bandits bound and gagged Miss Una Trevelyn, screen actress, and her escort, J. M. Champ, at the actress' Hollywood home, and escaped with guns and furs valued at $10,000, according to police reports today.

Miss Trevelyn with her hands tied behind her, escaped through a back door while the robbers were working and spread the alarm, and neighbors armed with automatics hurried to the scene. The bandits were fleeing in an automobile as they arrived.

LITTLE GIRL IS KILLED BY DOCTOR'S CAR

Lavon Lois Weisgerber, 19 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph A. Weisgerber, 425 South Broadway, was instantly killed at 8:45 a. m. today, when struck by an automobile driven by Dr. John L. Maroon, 510 East Seventeenth street, at 421 South Broadway.

Death was said to have been caused by severe head injuries and a broken neck.

The child was struck by the car as it was being backed out of the driveway at 421 South Broadway, and Dr. Maroon, in a statement made today, said he did not see her until after persons who witnessed the accident, called to him. He said he was running approximately five miles an hour at the time, and did not feel his car come in contact with the little body.

Dr. Maroon had just finished making a call at 421 South Broadway and said he saw the child and two women buying vegetables from a wagon several feet away. He said he then got into his car, which was parked in the driveway, and slowly backed it out. The child in the meantime, it was believed, had left the wagon and wandered to the driveway, where she was struck.

Coroner Charles D. Brown stated today that an inquest into the death would be held Monday, at the Smith and Tutthill funeral parlors, where the body was taken. No funeral arrangements have been completed.

Mr. Weisgerber, the father, is bookkeeper for the Killen and Miles garage.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 28.—Kansas City's booze ring investigation, started when two men were slain because they stole liquor from bootleggers, became more perplexing today with the announcement by police that wealthy men were backing the ring's operations and that Joseph R. Gant, indicted bank president, was not connected with the bootleggers.

Gant is under $50,000 bond awaiting trial on forgery charges in connection with the disappearance of $620,000 from the defunct Centropolis bank, of which he is head.

MUZZLING IS DENIED IN PROBE BY HOUSE

Mitchell Went Over Heads Of War Department Is Charge Made

WEEKS WILL NOT SAY MITCHELL TO 'RESIGN'

Admits on Stand Air Chief Is Most Competent In Aviation Matters

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, visited the war department last fall when he prepared articles for his publication without first submitting them to the war department for approval. Secretary of War Weeks charged today before the house aircraft committee.

"Would you care to state your opinion as to whether or not you will reappoint General Mitchell?" asked Representative O'Sullivan.

"That is a matter which is in the hands of the President. It would be entirely inappropriate for me to say anything about it before taking it up with the President, which I have not done."

Weeks denied charges that the war department was opposing development of aviation. He opposed the Curry unified air service bill.

Weeks said Mitchell visited the President and asked him for authority to prepare and print the articles which derided the 1921 bombing tests.

"President Coolidge told Mitchell," said Weeks, "that he could write the articles if he submitted them to his superiors in the war department for approval."

"Isn't that a plain case of muzzling?" asked Representative O'Sullivan, Connecticut, Democrat.

"It is not," Weeks replied. "We knew the articles would be of a controversial nature and we did not want to cause any disturbance."

Weeks said that many statements by Mitchell shortly after the bombing tests caused the Secretary of the Navy to enter vigorous denials of them.

"The secretary of the navy said they were untrue and reflected on the navy. So I directed Mitchell if he had any more statements to issue to submit them first to the war department."

Weeks also charged that Mitchell asked the President for his permission without authority of the war department.

"I believe that shows a plain case of muzzling," O'Sullivan put in again.

"Oh no it doesn't," Weeks replied. "We didn't want to cause any more trouble over this matter. We have never muzzled any officer of the army. If there is any officer of the army who has not been permitted to express his views I do not know of him."

After Mitchell's call at the White House, Weeks said, president Coolidge again cautioned him by letter to have the war department pass on the articles before they were submitted to the magazine. Weeks denied he told Mitchell he was to be transferred to some remote place or forced to resign.

TATTOO MARKS FOR CHICKENS TO BE TRIED

Determined to provide a means of identification of poultry in order to thwart thieves, poultrymen of Orange county, meeting in the Hall of Records building last night, went on record as favoring the tattoo system.

It is proposed to place a tattoo mark under the left wing of the chickens. Branding of poultry with hot irons was tried out but this plan did not prove successful and it was agreed to try out the tattoo plan.

According to W. M. Cory, assistant county farm advisor, who has made an exhaustive study of the tattoo art as practiced by the most successful methods known to man as a means of identification.

The poultrymen adopted a program of work for the year at last night's session. Among the projects will be a two-day poultry school May 25 and 26. Speakers were Prof. B. J. Crocker, Berkeley, California, director of farm advisors, and William T. Handley, Ontario, poultry specialist. Will Hatch, chairman of the poultry department of the farm bureau, presided.

The time for raising $1000 to be posted as a reward for chicken thieves was extended three months.

Hotaling Couple Not Worried at Poison Attempt

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28.—Revelation of two alleged plots to kill the Hotaling millionaire, recluse, and Mrs. Myrtle Hotaling, his wife, apparently, they are two of the calmest persons in the city.

"For some reason we've been unable to become excited over this thing," Mrs. Hotaling told the United Press today. "There has been so much trouble in our family, so much bitterness, that for some persons—whom we have no idea—made such an attack upon us, has failed to frighten us a bit."

The split in the Hotaling family has been known for years. The factions are composed of Mrs. Lavina Hotaling, widow of the late A. P. Hotaling, millionaire brewer, her son Frederick and his wife, on the one side, and Richard Hotaling, another son, Mrs. Ella Hotaling and Mrs. A. P. Hotaling, sister-in-law, on the other.

The two groups have nothing to do with each other and have only met in court during the years of litigation over the $4,000,000 estate. The Frederick Hotalings, both middle aged, live in a rambling old house giving little evidence of the wealth of its owner.

STOCKHOLDERS OF ULMER CO. GUESTS AT LOCAL FACTORY, OPTIMISTIC OVER PROSPECTS

Eating to the accompaniment of the buzz and grind of machinery used in manufacturing turbine pumps, stockholders of the Ulmer Machinery company, last night were guests of the company at a dinner served in the factory building on East Delhi road. With officials, the party numbered approximately 50 men and women. Chapman, of the Elks' Club cafe, catered. Inspection of the plant preceded and followed the dinner, many of the stockholders getting their first glimpse of the plant in actual operation.

Although operations were only started here Jan. 10 last, the company already is working two shifts, a day shift of fifteen mechanics and a night force of eight. Preparations are being made for adding a third shift, according to M. J. Fulton, factory foreman. More machinery also is on the way here for increasing the facilities of the plant and when this is installed the number of employees will be increased.

At conclusion of the dinner, R. E. Brown, industrial realtor, introduced J. A. Ulmer, president and founder of the company, as toastmaster. The latter explaining that the stockholders had been invited to the dinner in order that they might meet and know the officials and inspect the plant.

Orders Total $38,730
Announcing that orders for pumps received between January 10 and February 27 totalled $38,730.70. Ulmer said that while the total was larger than previously received in the same period, it was not what it would be in March, when irrigation started in a general way. Comparing results from advertising as between maintenance of his plant and headquarters at Porterville with maintenance of his plant here and headquarters in Los Angeles, the president said that since location in Los Angeles, he had received five responses to two formerly received.

Pointing to the possible profit to the company, he stressed the fact that the company sells its product direct to consumer, eliminating the middleman. All the pumps put out by the company are manufactured here, the plant at Bakersfield being continued to give service to Ulmer pump owners in the San Joaquin valley. Ulmer has been manufacturing at Porterville for 25 years and many of his pumps are in use in the valley.

"We are making a pump that is serviceable and dependable and these points tell the story of our success," Ulmer said in directing attention to the fact that the equipment is being used by municipalities, water companies and individuals in many sections of the United States. He said the west coast of Mexico is becoming a potential field for sale of the equipment. Prices for the product range from $300 to $3000, according to the type.

Earl Martin, secretary, treasurer and engineer for the company, presented some detailed information on the manufacture of the turbine pump, using a model to illustrate his points. He emphasized his statement that the company can design and build any type of pump a customer may want. He stressed the superiority of the turbine over other types for lifting water from a great depth.

Expresses Confidence
J. P. Baumgartner, a stockholder, expressed his confidence in the company and the management, and touching upon the ambition of Santa Ana to establish industrials here, said, "I believe we should as far as possible, choose going concerns and those that want to expand. Continuing he said: "We will not make much progress here in an industry unless we locate where the facilities are successful. The Ulmer Machinery company impressed me as so substantial it could not fail, if correctly managed. Its product is good and in demand. We have heard no complaint whatever against the quality of its pumps."

Compliment Company
A. L. Oiler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and John Knox, a stockholder, made brief talks in which they complimented the company and its product and predicted big success for the concern.

Following the dinner, guests visited the foundry operated at the plant by L. A. Turner, proprietor of the Santa Ana Iron works on East First street, and witnessed the pouring of metal in moulds for casting some parts of the pieces used in manufacturing pumps. Many of the visitors never before had witnessed the pouring of molten metal.

Turner employing ten men at the foundry and his down-town plant is kept rather busy making equipment for the factory foundry. Officials of the company introduced at the meeting, in addition to those already mentioned, were J. L. Adrien, vice president; George Middleton, Ames, Ulmer, a brother of the president and manager of the plant at Porterville; F. H. Denman, salesman, and A. T. Warden, accountant.

And Jesus stood before the governor; and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest. And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, he answered nothing.

Then said Pilate unto him, Harest thou not how many things they witness against thee? And he answered him to never a word; insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly.

Now at that feast the governor was wont to release unto the people a prisoner, whom they would. And they had then a notable prisoner, called Barabbas.

Therefore when they were gathered together, Pilate said unto them, Whom will ye that I release unto you? Barabbas, or Jesus which is called Christ? For he knew that for envy they had delivered him.

BLAST KILLS HUNDREDS ON SOUTHERN ISLE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 28.—The tremendous blast of 3000 cases of dynamite on the island of Caju may have taken a toll of 300 lives, officials fear. The explosion came yesterday evening during an oil fire.

Hundreds of persons were severely injured, according to early reports and some deaths came from fright. Scores have been made temporarily deaf.

This city, ten miles from the island, was badly shaken. The roof of the Phenix theater here crashed in, windows were broken and frame cottages collapsed.

All of the victims of the blast are Brazilian laborers and firemen who were fighting the flames. The Atlantic Refining company owned the oil which was set afire by unknown means.

Fifty explosions shook the island between 5 p. m. and 7 p. m. Everyone in the vicinity was rendered deaf.

VACCINATION IS NOT COMPULSORY

Recent articles appearing in the press are declaring the prevalence of a virulent type of smallpox in many states. The information is given that not only is vaccination necessary, without delay, but that the necessity applies to all individuals who have not been successfully vaccinated during recent years.

The Public School Protective League of California, with offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco issues a statement declaring that "There is no law in the state of California which requires vaccination. Persons affected with smallpox, members of the household or others having directly contacted a smallpox patient," the statement says, "may be quarantined by order of the state health department, but absolutely no vaccination shall be required or enforced. There is no such thing in the state of California as compulsory vaccination."

ARE YOU A MATCH MAKER?
In reviewing the season's styles in scarfs and handkerchiefs one is drolly reminded of Mark Twain who, speaking of New England, said that he had counted one hundred and thirty-six different kinds of weather within twenty-four hours. Similarly, style in scarfs and handkerchiefs crowd upon one another so thick and fast, that you no sooner put them into print than they are out of vogue. Harmony in the details of dress is only a recent acquisition among Americans, but it has already assumed the proportions of a veritable obsession. The English have always been keen on matching colors and it is chiefly this practice that has given them a world-wide reputation of being well-turned-out.

The way to plan your dress is to select one or two governing colors, preferably two, and then, have all the articles you wear conform to this theme, very much like the recurring figure that runs through a musical composition. Let us assume that your suit is solid blue. Pair it off with a tan hat, tan shoes, a blue-and-tan cravat, a tan or blue-and-tan shirt, a tan or blue-and-tan handkerchief and tan gloves. There you have a particularly perfect combination of two harmonizing hues throughout. Now, please observe how this ensemble would be spoiled by wearing a gray hat with your tan shoes or by wearing gray gloves with your tan hat. To be sure, many other colors besides blue-and-tan may be effectively blended in one's dress. Blue goes well with purple; green goes well with tan; pink goes well with blue; purple goes well with Oxford gray and so on. The poorest combination for day dress is black-and-white, because these are strictly formal colors belonging to evening wear. Moreover, black-and-white is prone to suggest that one is in mourning.

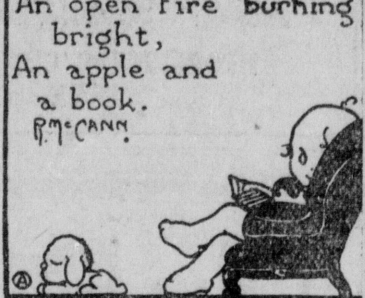

Never attempt to dress in a single color. It is too nondescript and monotonous. The life of clothes is contrast. Never wear a solid-colored cravat with a suit of the same solid color. A man's scarf should stand out in the theme of his dress. Combinations like that illustrated here—cravat and handkerchief that match exactly in color and pattern are allowable, sometimes even advisable. Here you see a bold all-over scroll effect with a wide, solid-colored border. Such articles are not only procurable in regular silks, but also in the new washable ginghams and tub silks.

News Briefs

Friends of Mrs. Lyle Anderson who were considerably worried last night lest an attack on her by a vicious dog at her home, 2335 Oakmont avenue, last Monday, should have serious consequences, were relieved today at the announcement that she had so far recovered the use of her leg as to be able to walk a few steps. Mrs. Anderson was attacked by a small yellow dog which leaped for her face and throat. She was able to fend off the attack on her face but the animal sank its teeth in the fleshy portion of her hip making two ugly and very deep gashes. The wounds received immediate attention and are being carefully treated. The dog, which is the property of Mrs. Florence Granger of 2417 Valencia street, is under inspection for rabies.

Pennsylvanians will hold a picnic reunion in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, next Saturday, March 7, according to notices received here today.

Transient Record of National Affairs.

by U.S. Senator Hiram W. Johnson

ON NEXT Wednesday this session will automatically end. These letters, therefore, will cease with the present one. It has been impossible to prevent them in the literary form desired, and necessarily, restraints of position have at times limited freedom of utterance. It is hoped that they may have offered a little information on passing events, as well as have recorded a part of the writer's independent comment. If they served at all to interest or entertain for a brief moment, or, in some small degree, to instruct, the writer will feel amply repaid. It is, however, with a feeling of sincere regret that I take leave, I hope but temporarily, from an occupation which, though sometimes irksome, has been a source of pleasure and gratification.

THE LAUSANNE TREATY, that is, the treaty between the United States and Turkey, has just been reported by the Foreign Relations committee. Annexed to this treaty, and really a part of it, are not only the letters that passed between the representatives of the United States and Turkey, but the minutes of their conversations and meetings. During the discussion of the Treaty in the Foreign Relations committee, the question was asked, why these minutes and proceedings were attached, and the answer from the Administration Senators was instant and obvious, that it was for the purpose of constraining according to the intent of the parties the treaty in the future. We are now told by a Washington commentator, what I published once in this column, that at the time the Paris Pact recently was signed, Mr. Kellogg proposed to add, after his signature, the diplomatic formula that the United States was signing only for that in which the United States was particularly interested, and that the other delegates at once repudiated the suggestion, and would not permit it to be done; and thereupon the agreement was signed without any reservation at all. When the minutes of reservations were first published, a qualified denial was issued by the Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes. The facts are in detail in the Washington Post of February 17, and it is very positively averred that the minutes of the proceedings upon the attempted reservation of Kellogg and the denial of it by the representatives of all the other nations, have been transmitted to every nation, so that if the question of interpretation or construction shall ever arise, the attitude and declarations of the parties at the very time of signing shall be controlling. In the treaty with Turkey, minutes of this sort were by themselves insisted on. In the agreement at Paris for the collection of reparations from Germany, all the other nations interested insisted upon similar minutes as determining the ultimate construction of the agreement. It requires no great imagination therefore to foresee, if Germany is unable to pay reparations, the demands that will be made of the United States.

THE first Jackson administration saw the beginning of a national journalism. For the first time then, correspondents came upon the proceedings of congress and the activities of the capital, gained a country-wide hearing. The development thereafter was gradual, but continuous; and ultimately from the capital came the best and most discriminating thought upon public affairs, and journalism reached its highest plane. In the last two decades, there has been unfortunately, a very progressive decline, until we of this generation have seen probably the end of that journalism—the fearless, independent, honest comment we had learned to respect and admire. The profession of journalism has passed. The era of newspaper journalism is here. No longer from the capital issues independent and forceful comment from correspondents who fear neither man nor party. Today correspondents of particular newspapers color their writings correspond with their papers' policies; and individual correspondents who seek to market their wares, fashion them as their purchasers desire. Out of Washington now comes no such thing as independent comment—sometimes the literary event is molded out of all semblance. The syndicate writer, and there are many because this is the lucrative part of the game, can obtain pages "on his string" only by pandering to their opinions, and we cannot blame him if the measure of his writing is the pleasure of his customer. This material age in detouring others, has eliminated from the capital the old and honored profession of journalism.

THE McFadden-Pepper bill is before the senate. As it came from the house, it aroused bitter opposition; but in the senate committee the offending section was eliminated. The hearings have children, Gettysburg, S. D.; O. M. Geibul, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Cook and daughters, Los Angeles.

The boys of St. Joseph's parochial school participated in a very interesting kite contest, yesterday afternoon on the school yard. The kites were very pretty, of different shapes and vari-colored, and were made by their owners. Walter Markel was awarded the prize for the prettiest kite, and Bert Banks and Claude Norton were given prizes for sending their kites higher than the others.

Starting at 6 a. m., tomorrow, the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company will establish a rate of $1 an hour for 100 inches of water, it was announced at the office today. The price is advanced from 40 cents an hour. The limit is three hours to the share. Water is still on application.

demonstrated that the National bank system has become archaic, and the law must be re-written and liberalized. State banks have endangered really the whole der state charters, it is claimed, system; and the object of the Pepper bill in the language of its sponsor, is to give equality of opportunity in the banking field to National banks. The controversial subjects in relation to branch banking having been practically eliminated from the bill, its passage is now hardly in doubt.

WITHIN a very few days from the publication of this letter there will be another inauguration of our President. Mr. Coolidge will enter upon his term of office as chief executive by virtue of an almost unprecedented majority evidencing the wide and hearty approval of the American people. There is no American who wishes for him a prosperous, happy, and successful term. The United States has become the richest and most powerful nation in the world. The presidential office in dignity, authority and influence, far transcends in importance today any other. May the influence of our country never be lessened, may it ever be happy and make others happier, may its President be preserved to maintain in their pristine purity its principles and its institutions are the fervent wish and devout-prayer of every patriotic American.

LOCAL PASTORS START MOVE TO ENDORSE BILL

Action looking to endorsement of a bill introduced in the present session of the state legislature, authorizing boards of education to excuse children during school hours for the purpose of receiving religious instruction, has been taken by the Santa Ana Ministerial association. It was learned today at the board of education of the city, that the law provides that at the written request of parent or guardian, a pupil shall be excused from school for periods ranging from 60 to 180 minutes a school week.

In this connection it was intimated that because of differences of opinion as to the advisability of the proposed measure, no action looking to endorsement or disapproval of the measure, will be taken by the local school board.

Inquiries at local educational centers disclosed the fact that the scheme is being tried out in the Brooklyn schools with varied success. While the majority of Protestant teachers are in favor of the idea, there is also vigorous opposition to the measure in other quarters.

While all churchmen, regardless of denominations, are agreed regarding the need of religious education, and feel that mere secular training will not build up a child's character completely or lay an adequate basis for spiritual life, fear is felt that introduction of religion in the public schools may be the entering wedge for influences which would destroy the public school system in building up the common citizenship, it is claimed by those opposed to the movement.

Police News

Not an arrest has been made by city police since February 25. Motorcycle officers of the city have not turned in an arrest for speeding for several days.

Kenneth Brown, youth, who lives at 914 West Pine street, was found wandering the streets at Long Beach last night, according to a report from the Long Beach police. He is being held there pending the arrival of his parents. The parents were notified last night.

J. D. McNutt, route No. 1, Santa Ana, reported to police last night that while his automobile was parked at 468 West Eighth street, it was looted of tools, including wrenches, pliers and several other articles.

Police have been asked to search for Roy Nemmo, 15, of the Irvine Ranch, who has been missing from his home for several days. He left with a small pack under his arm, and was dressed in blue overalls and a cowboy hat. The youth is described as being approximately 5 feet 3 1/2 inches in height and having light brown hair.

J. P. Loftus, 33, charged with being drunk, was brought to the Orange county jail last night from Huntington Beach.

Charged with intoxication, Jack Jones, 34, who said he was an artist, was arrested on a downtown street today by Motorcycle Officer Harold Jaynes. He was lodged in the county jail.

RUSH WORK ON ROTARY RIG SOUTH OF CITY

The rig building crew of the Standard Oil company constructing the derrick for the company's prospect well in the Paulmarino district, this afternoon virtually had completed construction of the tower.

The frame and a portion of the braces were put up in six hours. This indicates the speed with which building developments are moving at the well.

Indications today pointed to the possibility of drilling operations starting one week from Monday. It was said that the company anticipated "spudding" that day.

The derrick is 115 feet high, with a forty-foot square base, and it will support rotary drilling equipment that will shoot the hole downward at the rate of 100 feet per day for the first five or six days. As greater depth is reached drilling is slowed up, due to the fact that more time is lost by pulling up and lowering tools used in drilling.

Property owners in the district south of town in which leases have been made to the Standard, the Shell and other oil companies are watching with keen interest the work of the Standard at Paulmarino.

As yet there has been no indication of immediate drilling by the Shell or by the Standard on some of the tracts under lease in the Greenville district.

Talbert Woman Given 30 Days On Rum Charge

Although served with a bench warrant from the federal court in Los Angeles, Mrs. Sadie Ellis, of Talbert, will probably not go there to face a liquor charge, it was said today, for the reason that she has been sentenced to jail here and now is serving her sentence.

Mrs. Ellis, convicted of selling liquor on two counts, was sentenced yesterday by Superior Judge Z. B. West to a term of 30 days in jail on the first count and a $1,000 fine on the second count. The fee was suspended. Her husband, Clyde Ellis, was in the courtroom with her when a federal bench warrant was served on him, from Los Angeles. He had been tried in superior court here this week on a liquor charge but the jury disagreed.

The federal warrant that took her husband yesterday did not reach Mrs. Ellis until today, after she had been committed to jail.

Discover Body of Still-Born Child In Yard

Wrapped in a Los Angeles newspaper which bore a date line of February 27, the body of a still-born child was found in the lumber yards of the E. K. Wood company, East Fourth street, today by Herbert Brickey, 424 East Second street, a workman at the plant, according to a report made to the city police.

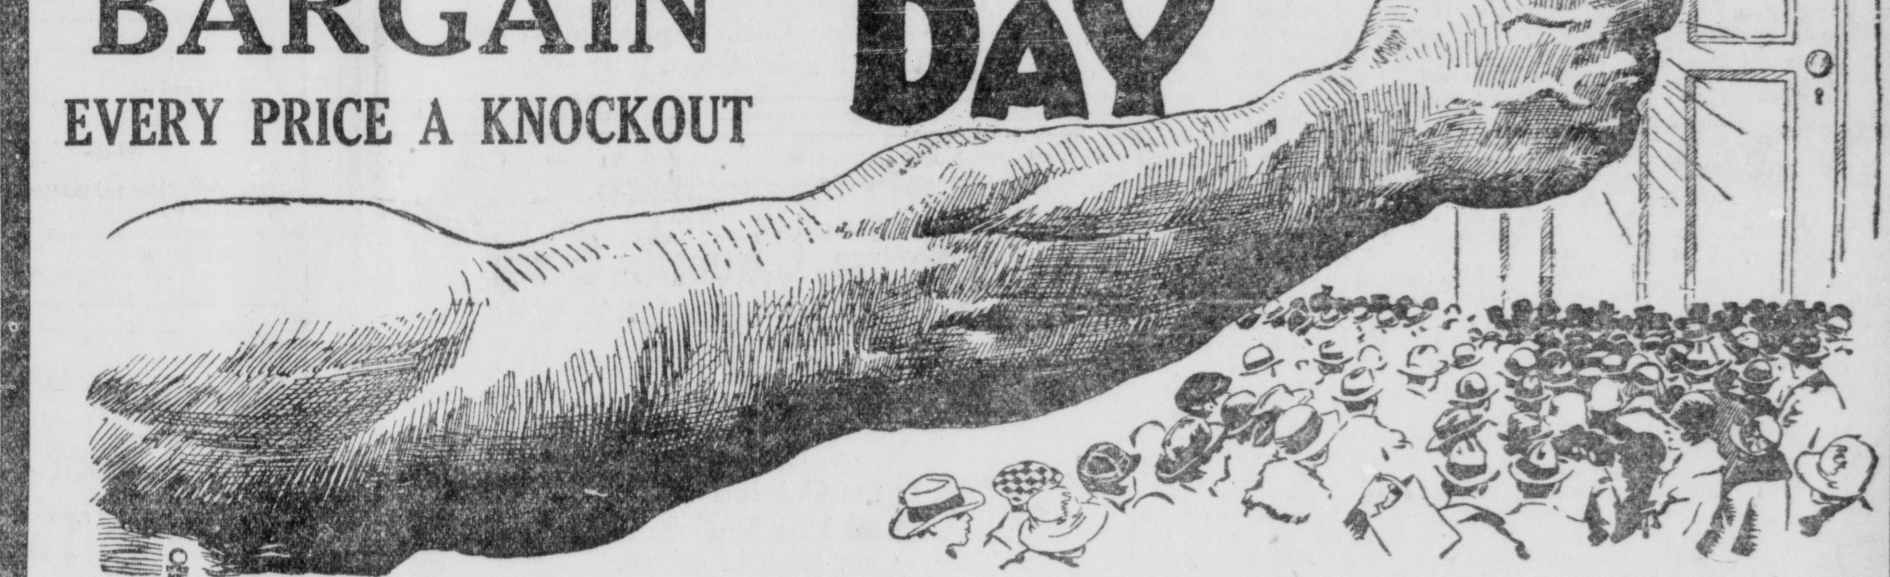

Police brought the body of the child to the station, and it will be turned over to the health department on instructions from Coroner Charles D. Brown.

The police are of the opinion that the body was tossed over the fence at the lumber company from a passing automobile sometime after 7 a. m. today. Fresh tracks in the dirt near the place indicated that the automobile was a small one with new tires.

Mission Play to Have Santa Ana Day on March 15

A. L. Oiger, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today announced completion of plans for a Santa Ana day at the Mission play at San Gabriel, the date being set for the evening of March 15, when $2 tickets will be available to Santa Anans at 85 cents each. The secretary said that the civic organizations and the service clubs would be asked to co-operate in plans to secure the attendance of a large number of men, women and children from this city.

He said that 100 tickets for school pupils and teachers would be available at 50 cents each, and that 400 of the 85 cent tickets had been reserved for the occasion.

Oiger said that if a sufficient number of reservations were made by persons without transportation, arrangements would be made to take them to San Gabriel by bus at a charge of $1 for the round trip. Virtually every community in Southern California is arranging for an evening of the play and that he felt the chamber should foster a Santa Ana day.

Will Illustrate Sunday Address

An illustrated sermon on "Balances of Life" will be given by Miss Bessie Mae Randell, pastor of the Four Square Gospel tabernacle, Fairview and Sycamore streets, Saturday night at 7:30 p. m. Herschel Clayton, well known Santa Ana vocalist, will sing. The subject morning will be "The Power of God." Services will start at 11 a. m. Monday night, special healing services will be held, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The subject will be "Divine Healing and Its Proof." Testimonials of persons who claim to have been healed after Miss Randell had prayed for them will be given Monday evening.

NO CAUSE FOR ANXIETY HERE SAYS BANKER

Pointing out that only 10 per cent of the farm products of Orange county are raised on lands dependent on rain for moisture, Frank Was, of the First National bank, yesterday told realtors at the meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors that there is no real occasion for apprehension as to the financial status of Orange county should this be another dry year.

The banker discussed frankly conditions obtaining and pointed out many ways in which he believed realtors could be of greater service to their community. Charging that real estate brokers were prone to follow the line of least resistance, he recounted the activity here the past few years in subdivision work, and voiced the opinion that when the brokers were giving their attention almost exclusively to the sale of city lots and homes, they took away the stimulus from other lines of promotion work.

In making his point, he said that possibly real estate at this time if the dealers at the time of the fast selling period had devoted themselves some to the purpose of selling lands suitable for chicken raising or for dairying.

Suggests Co-ordination Complimenting the membership of the local organization, he said that the organization was composed of men of keen business minds, and suggested that a governing board be created to direct in a systematic way the co-operative efforts of the group in the matter of selling real estate—that is anticipating the future and creating an effective force in promotion of the selling of farm acreage whenever it appeared that efforts in behalf of lot or home selling was being overdone or where conditions developed that indicated this class of business was going into a slump.

Was declared that in California credit is too easy, and that this is one of the reasons why interest rates of 7 and 8 per cent prevail where 5 per cent should rule. The point was illustrated by instancing the fact that here one may buy a home on the monthly payment plan.

Installation Reaction "A person can buy a home, put in an electric washing machine, a radio and most everything else in the way of appointments and still not make a total cash payment exceeding ten per cent of the investment," Was said. "This is very fine in the moving of property or merchandise, but the reaction in the end is injurious. It results in many individuals obligating themselves to monthly payments beyond their capacity to pay."

He said it is not an uncommon occurrence for persons who have overdressed themselves to ask banks to evolve a plan by which the obligations may be assembled and pro rata payments made on all the contracts.

Asserting that wet years are the exception rather than the rule, the speaker said that proper conservation of flood waters of streams of the county was one of the biggest and most important questions before the public of Orange county.

Economic Improvements Touching on foreign and national conditions, the banker said that affairs were shaping themselves in a most favorable way and that the business situation was brightening. He referred to the steel industry operating at 94 per cent of its capacity, to railroads being prosperous and to the general upward trend of all manufacturing and business.

John Knox presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, J. E. Livesey sr., who was at Imperial attending a conference of representatives of the California Real Estate association.

Romantic Note Sounds In Story of Pretty Home Wedding

It was with a great deal of interest that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinberger of 529 West Santa Clara avenue welcomed the former's brother, Harvey Stein-berger and his fiancée, Mrs. Elizabeth Scott, to their charming home Wednesday evening, for plans had been made for the wedding of the young people to follow soon after their arrival from the Sierra Madre where both have resided. Mr. Steinberger for all his life, as he is a Native Son.

Their choice of the Santa Ana home as scene for their wedding was most appropriate as at the time of the wedding of Robert Steinberger and Miss Margaret Sortor, between two and three years ago, Harvey Steinberger was his brother's best man.

The parents of the two young men, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stein-berger, were not present Wednesday night but were represented by the var-colored sweet peas and velvety giant pansies which formed a colorful background for the ceremony and which came from their home gardens at Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Scott wore a smart ensemble of flowered silk and Kasha cloth in readiness for the southern motor trip which is forming their honeymoon. The ceremony was read impressively by the Rev. F. T.
Porter of the First Christian church in the presence of only the members of the family. Later a delightful little wedding dinner was served by Mrs. Steinberger with covers laid for the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Steinberger, the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steinberger, their adorable baby daughter, Nancy Elizabeth and Mrs. A. L. Sortor, mother of the hostess.

Following close upon the heels of the pretty wedding of Wednesday night, was an enjoyable bridge luncheon with which Mrs.
Robert Steinberger and Mrs. Sortor entertained Thursday, honoring a Minneapolis friend, Mrs. F. C.
Stanley who is spending the late winter months in Southern California.

Twenty guests were welcomed for the delectable 1 o'clock luncheon, many of them being Minneapolis friends of both the honor guests and the hostesses. The flowers which had made the previous night's wedding scene so lovely, were quite as effective as bridge party decorations and each luncheon table was centered with vividly colorful sweet peas.

Bridge followed during the afternoon hours and high honors fell to Miss Sprague of Minneapolis while second high was made by Mrs. George Bowes of Los Angeles. Each received an attractive gift.

Without Arizona

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 28.—
Approval of the Colorado river pact without the signature of Arizona is asked of the California legislature in a resolution to be introduced by Senator Ralph A. Swing of San Bernardino and Assembly man A. C. Finney of Imperial val-

The resolution calls for the protection of the present water rights until water storage facilities have been installed on the river. The signatures of only six of the seven states involved would be necessary to effect the pact under the terms of the Swing-Finney resolution.

Colonial Folk Gather In Church Parlor For Gay Event

Each year when the Baptist church folk meet for the big church party sponsored by the Women's society, it seems that the height of hospitality and friendliness has been shown. But last night's affair, held in the assembly hall, was declared to have exceeded in charm, all the pleasant parties, which have gone before.

The colonial period of our national history was chosen as the keynote of the entertainments with decorations, costumes and program, all emphasizing the motif. Palms, pepper and eucalyptus boughs, ferns and scarlet poinsettias were used in profusion, banking the stage and screening the Bible school orchestra, which gave a delightful musical prelude to the formal program. The orchestra numbers were interspersed with old-time songs led by Mrs. J. P.
Williams.

Mrs. H. H. Reeves, chairman of the social committee, voiced a general welcome to the guests, at the same time offering tribute to Mrs.
W. H. Harrison, president of the Women's society who planned the entire evening. Mrs. Reeves brought her talk to a close by asking Mrs.
Harrison to come to the stage and presenting her with a cluster of fragrant carnations.

The program continued with a pretty play, "Colonial Sweethearts of Mine" for which the stage was arranged with cane-back rockers, wrought iron candelabra, a wonderfully preserved old spinning wheel and hand-woven coverlets loaned by Mrs. J. S. Runyan.

As the play opened, the butler (played by L. C. Fairbanks) was shown lighting the candles by means of flint and tinder box and old fashioned paper "spills," just as Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton (Mac Robbins and Mrs. James A. Tarpley) entered discussing the happy years of their married life. "Mrs. Hamilton's" departure was followed by the re-entry of the butler who brought a box of old letters and keepsakes of "Mr. Hamilton's."

After the appetizing menu was served, the ladies joined in a series of lively games varied by songs of the Y. Comrades' club.

Enjoying the hospitality of the Rev. and Mrs. Burgess were Bert
Fry, Harold Breeding, Harvey
French, Orville Hurd, Oscar Lapum, Forest Winkle, Frank Ros-ier, Jimmy Smith, Bob Kimberlin, Nyland Hurd, Orville Shuhart, Judson Riley, Kenneth Maxwell, Ther-win Stewart and Bert Vanderbilt.

Cormick was painted as a crusader for whom never surrendered idealism by the Rev. Charles B. Wood, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Washington, D. C., when he said the final words over the body of the late senator from Illinois here yesterday.

While he spoke the tears of his wife, of Harold McCormick and of United States Senators
McKinley, Illinois, and Spencer, Missouri, gave proof to the pastor's statement that in the death of Senator McCormick his friends and family, the city of Chicago and the nation had suffered a great loss.

"Senator McCormick possessed
the soul of a crusader," said Dr.
Wood.

Group of Lads Enjoy Lively Dinner

Entertained at the parsonage home of the Rev. and Mrs. H. G.
Burgess, 702 Cypress street, the High Y class of the Richland Avenue Methodist Sunday school spent a most enjoyable evening Thursday following the dinner served at 6:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Burgess is teacher of the class and offered the same friendly hospitality in his home that prevails in church and Sunday school rooms. Covers were laid for sixteen and the table was a charming sight with fancy napkins, baskets for mints, candles and lavender.

After the appetizing menu was served, the lads joined in a series of lively games varied by songs of
the Y. Comrades' club.

Ebelle Travelers

Continuing their delightful European tour, under the supervision of Mrs. C. P. Boyer and Mrs. H. C.
Wiley, members of Ebelle's Fourth Travel section recently explored the scenic landscape of Switzerland and learned of the ways and customs of her people whose thrift and industry has placed their little country among the most important manufacturing sources of the world.

Mrs. Boyer led her hearers step by step through eastern Switzerland stopping at various points of interest, lingering longest at beautiful Lake Lucerne and the city which bears its name. This spot, beloved by all tourists, is world famous for its grandeur.

Mrs. Wiley conducted the tour through the western part of the country, dwelling especially on St. Gotthard's Pass which forms the nucleus of the great Alpine system. The lakes were also considered as they are very numerous and beautiful.

Mrs. F. L. Andrews opened her hospitality home on South Ross street for the meeting on Thursday afternoon. The ways and means committee reported that the section would donate the cypress trees to be placed on the club house lawn.

Guests of the afternoon included Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. George,
Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Clark and Mrs.
Coulter. The March meeting will be held at the home of the leader,
Dr. M. V. Tremaine.

Smart Little Dinner Before Dancing at Country Club

Social activities among the younger members of the social set are receiving impetus from the recent opening of the Santa Ana Country club, and the informal dances and card parties being staged there at regular intervals, have been enthusiastically attended by them as well as by the matrons and older folk.

Occasionally an added interest is given by more intimate little social affairs which precede the larger parties such as the smart dinner which Miss Virginia Metzgar gave Thursday night ere she and her guests motored down to the club for the evening's dancing.

Miss Metzgar entertained at her home, 608 Spurgeon street, where softly tinted spring flowers centered the table around which were seated Mr. and Mrs. James
C. Metzgar and Miss Virginia
Metzgar, hostess, Mr. and Mrs.
Glen of Los Angeles, Miss Maria
Diehl, Miss Roberta Dawes, Miss Margaret Lyon, Messrs. George
Baker, Wilbur Barr, Fred Forgy
Douglas Paterson and Dr. John Wehrly.

Leisurely enjoyment of the elaborate course dinner was followed by a merry hour at home ere the young people accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Metzgar motored to the club to dance for the remainder of the evening.

inspiration from the lovely roses, colorful sweet peas and other spring blossoms with which the home was decked.

At the refreshment hour Mrs.
Williams served dainty nut bread and other varieties of sandwiches, perfection salad with pineapple fluff, angel food and sunshine cake, and her daughter, Mrs. Harvey Riggle and Mrs. Leonard poured tea.

Mrs. Wilfrid Rountree of Costa

Daughter Is Honored

At the W. V. Adamson home and merriment prevailed last night when a bevy of pretty young girls responded to the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Adamteenth birthday of their only daughter, Miss Miriam Adamson.

Yellow and lavender were chosen as the decorative colors with California poppies and hyacinths used in adorning the living-room while Scotch broom and exquisite lavender lantana were used in the dining room with an artistically arranged basket of softly tinted candles were used in pretty candlesticks and place cards and other dainty table appointments were all in harmony.

The menu stressed the same spring-like colors with ice cream, coconut macaroons and a large square birthday cake followed by lavender and yellow mints.

Lively games enjoyed by the young people included a jumbled letter contest in which were named articles used in Milady's created a storm of laughter and the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing.

Showering their loving wishes

"FORTY WINKS" AT WEST END SUNDAY

"Forty Winks," adapted to the screen from "Lord Chumley," one of the outstanding comedy successes of the last 30 years of stage history by David Belasco and Henry C. De Mille, comes to the West End theater for a week's engagement beginning Sunday.

Paul Libe and Frank Urson, who made "Changing Husbands," directed the production which features Viola Dana, Theodore Roberts and Raymond Griffith in leading roles.

The story is one of Chumley, a titled Englishman who is so funny that nobody takes him seriously. However, through a series of adventures as dangerous as they are laughable, he succeeds in solving a mystery, winning a society beauty and saving her brother from disgrace. All of which is claimed to be portrayed in a manner that makes "Forty Winks" splendid entertainment.

JACK HOXIE FILM AT WALKER'S TONIGHT
Jack Hoxie, is accustomed to the worship of the small boy and the adulation of the older residents of small towns in which his company finds accommodation while on location, but while he was making "Flying Hoofs," now being screened in Walker's theater, he had an unusual experience in the fan line.

The company established itself at Boulder Creek in the Santa Cruz Mountains and the first day Hoxie and his universal Ranch Riders started out on a ten mile ride up the redwood region. They quitted the town limits when a big deer bound ambled from somewhere and paced along beside Hoxie's big white horse, Scout.

All day the hound hung around and accompanied the company back that night. The next day it was the same, and for every one of the ten days the company was on location. Every time Hoxie was off the horse the hound was at his side and if the star sat down the hound would lie only at his feet.

DE HAVEN PRESENTS FINE ACT AT YOST

Carter De Haven and his company of talented screen beauties from Hollywood studios are so much to the liking of the Yost theater audiences that they could play many more days than the one day left for their appearance at that theater.

De Haven's production takes on the air of a pageant so diversified it is so full of color, shifting swiftly from the absurdly funny to the most finished artistry. This act can be called novel and not be a travesty on that over worked term. Yet it was not alone the elaborate settings or the exceptionally talented company that caused its enthusiastic reception here on the initial showing, rather it is the spontaneity and good will that radiated from actors to audience.

A deft touch of tragedy is interposed when a brilliantly costumed hand appears in a weirdly beautiful Chinese scene. A victim of the great underworld God Dope hesitates across the stage, following a poorly dressed Chinaman. They enter a building and that's all. But it is a broad stroke of seriousness that makes the comedy following a relief.

De Haven opens his revue with a series of impersonations which have an irresistible appeal. A Scotch comedy directed by Roy del Ruth and Bebe Daniels in "Little Miss Bluebeard," a hilarious comedy-drama complete the bill.

5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT WALKER'S SUNDAY
Five acts of vaudeville will feature tomorrow's bill at Walker's theater. A resume of the program follows:

"The Powder Puff Girl" with Harry and Kitty Sutton is an original comedy novelty, and is described as being "superior." The act's beauty and the skill of its two principals indicate it will create a world of local talk.

"Two Dainty Harmony Girls," Flo Rose and Carrol Elsie, justify their billing and are sure to more than please with their rendition of melodies and harmony. Their costumes in all probability will be a delight to the feminine portion of their audience.

Bert Keyes at the piano proves that fate made a very happy selection in giving him his name, for keys are things that Keyes can manipulate.

Forgetful of his more than half century of years, Arthur Terry pops forth on the stage with the smile of a boy and laughs into an extemporaneous discussion of current events, giving his words a humorous twist, and his big soft hat a nervous jerk. He is a harmless, mirthful sort of miniature Douglas Fairbanks.

"Novelty Magic and Illusions" will be offered by the DeBourg Sisters, two dainty French girls, direct from Paris. Their costumes are the latest Parisian gowns. The offering is a spectacular novelty direct from the home of illusions, and is an act of beauty and mystery artistically presented. This act without a doubt, is one of the best to play the West in many years.

Carter De Haven

Carter De Haven, famous screen and stage star, who closes his engagement at the Yost theater tonight.

HAS HAIR BOB CHANGED ON STUDIO SET

Bebe Daniels, while playing the title role in "Miss Bluebeard," now showing at the Yost theater, engaged in a little "bobbing a la carte," on the setting for the picture.

Miss Daniels, who portrays a French actress in this picture, had her hair combed in many fluffy ringlets with fishhooks outlining her face and adding a piquant and saucy air to her entire appearance. This coiffure was very effective with a crystal-beaded evening gown and a perky little transparent evening hat worn during an amusing sequence of scenes.

But when it was necessary to take some daytime scenes during which Miss Daniels wears a stunning ensemble costume, it was necessary to change the coiffure to something more suitable to a tailored outfit. Removing her smart black hat, Miss Daniels sat down before a dressing table in back of the set, and beckoned to a young man who stood nearby.

While the cameramen ordered a rearrangement of the cameras, the electricians shifted Klieg, overhead and spot lights, and Frank Tuttle, the director, discussed with the continuity clerk the details of the subsequent action, the studio hairdresser completely changed Miss Daniels' appearance.

HOOT GIBSON PICTURE AT WALKER'S SUNDAY

Hoot Gibson, Western star, stages a new brand of thrills and sensations in his latest picture, "The Hurricane Kid," playing at Walker's theater Sunday.

Gibson is seen in a desperate running fight on horseback, at breakneck speed, in a thrilling race and other exciting adventures, and one of the spectacular features is the capture and breaking to the saddle of a wild horse. Dangerous trails in the lower Sierras are the locale for much of the action.

The story was directed by Edward Sedgwick, who is responsible for "The Sawdust Trail," "The Ramblin' Kid" and other outstanding Gibson successes.

Marian Nixon, a noted screen beauty, is seen in the leading feminine role, and Violet La Plante, a younger sister of Laura La Plante, he noted star in the cast.

"TOMORROW'S LOVE" AT YOST SUNDAY

When it comes to driving an automobile at a seventy mile an hour clip, Agnes Ayres disdains a "double" at the wheel.

Long noted as one of "Hollywood's" most skillful drivers, Miss Ayres was put to the acid test during the filming of her latest starring picture, "Tomorrow's Love," which comes to the Yost theater Sunday.

Changing places with the pilot of an automobile while it careens dizzily at fifty miles an hour on a crowded highway, then forcing the machine to seventy miles an hour, is a thrill provided by Miss Ayres in the picture.

All of the star's unusual skill as a driver was required in the scenes showing her dodging other automobiles, leaping the span of a slowly rising bridge, missing a railroad train at a crossing and concluding with a sensational smash-up.

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

This "younger generation" that we hear so much about seems to have been eternal.

Take, for instance, the story of Jonah.

To the average person Jonah suggests nothing more than a whale. But Robert Nathan, a most ardent and original young American writer, has written a tale of purest fantasy, humor and gentle irony entitled "Jonah" (McBride) in which he finds symbols for the flapper, the dreamer, the mercenary and other well-known persons of the present time.

Thus we find Jonah setting forth as prophet, only to run into arguments now to be heard between fundamentalists and modernists. Here he might be any young man in any generation espousing a "cause" and quite intolerant to any viewpoint. But he meets Judith and once she has snuggled under his arm he is ready to forsake prophesy and make his way in the world. But Ahah, her uncle, sells her to the rich Hiram of Troy and Jonah comes to curse God.

Here there takes place a heavenly discourse in which Moses contends that Jonah "seems to lack character," and while a gentle and forgiving God agrees, He adds: "Yet he expects something from me. Perhaps that is why I am so fond of him."

It is rare, if ever, that so gentle and fanciful a satire appears in American fiction.

Speaking of the "younger generation," there comes from London, preceded by a fanfare of trumpets, "The Constant Nymph" (Doubleday, Page), by Margaret Kennedy. The trumpeting results from the fact that the critical gents of the London Times have acclaimed it one of the four most notable novels of the year, and have placed it in such excellent company as "The White Monkey," "Sark Harker" and "A Passage to India."

Admitting that there is the combined beauty of craftsmanship, conception, human understanding and fresh, animate writing, the Survey hastens to warn the average reader that this is no book for your conventional aunt in Ishpeming. Probably your flapper daughter will be quite at home with it, but as the sale of this volume sends it into the best sellers—as it probably will—the cry of "vulgar" will be heard in the land.

Miss Kennedy introduces us to one Albert Sanger, musical genius, with a family of children quite pagan and of appalling knowledge who talk and act with utmost frankness. And there is Louis Dodd, the young composer, who has no patience with respectability and who finds himself married to Florence Churchill, brought up in circumstances and sheltered English society. Dodd is thrown into a smug English musical and social set that he abhors.

He and Florence are drifting apart when Theresa Sanger, "the constant nymph," comes to live with them. Theresa is a vivid and amazing character, perfectly drawn, who combines the ingenuous child with sophisticated and cynical abandon. Tragedy inevitably comes, and of course it strikes the pathetically worldly child, Theresa.

It is, to the person interested in writing, a fine bit of work. To the person interested in morals it will be "another of those things."

SANTA ANA LOSES IN H. S. DEBATES

Santa Ana high school debaters lost all decisions in the dual league debates against Glendale last night in the second series of the Southern California elimination.

Miss Lorene Porter and Emil Faust debating here lost to Glendale by a 3 to 0 decision. The team composed of David Roberts and Raymond Orin went to Glendale lost by a similar count.

The question of the clashes was "Resolved that the United States government immediately recognize the present soviet government of Russia." By contending that the Russian soviet government aimed at world revolution the Glendale negative team won out in opposing the recognition in the debate here.

Kinsley Hancock presided over the league meet. Judges were R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools; S. M. Davis, Santa Ana attorney; and Earl Dwyer, Pullerton high school teacher.

"Meanest Thief" Steals Handles from Her Coffin

TAMAQUA, Pa., Feb. 28.—The "meanest man" title is now claimed by someone living "hereabouts."

When the body of Mrs. Otille Williams was brought here from Philadelphia recently for burial the casket was placed on the station platform, where someone stole the six brass handles from the coffin using a screwdriver to detach them according to authorities.

Professor Says Motor Cars of Future Will Fly

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Motor car of the future will have a sausage-shaped body, completely closed in, with wings where the mudguards now are, and the car will be capable of flight. This is the idea of Prof. A. M. Low, as developed in a lecture at the Engineers' club.

The professor says that in a few years the engine of the motor car will be altogether reliable, and the addition of flying abilities to its road uses is merely a matter of time.

The racing track speed of today will be the speed of the touring car of the future, says Mr. Low, for the sensation of speed will disappear as wider roads are made, which will eliminate the swift passing of objects on the roadside.

COOLIDGE GUMS THINGS UP FOR INAUGURATION

BY CHARLES P. STEWART.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—When President Coolidge said he wanted the quiet, inexpensive inauguration March 4, he meant it.

Washington didn't understand him so. This may seem queer. The president was plain enough about it.

The fact is, Washington preferred not to understand him. Business Washington, social Washington and official Washington love a big inaugural splurge.

The bigger the splurge the bigger the crowd. What business Washington doesn't know about squeezing money out of crowds isn't worth while finding out.

For instance, although the show can't possibly last more than a day, Washington's hotels announced that they wouldn't consider room reservations for less than four days, the idea being to charge four days' fancy prices for a one-day blowout.

That's why business Washington likes a huge display.

Chance for Society.

Social Washington likes it because a big show affords society a chance to show off.

Official Washington likes it on account of the chance it furnishes to put visiting constituents under obligations for various small services rendered, and, besides, official Washington has certain interests which merge with business and social Washington's.

Business, social and official Washington undertook to handle the situation—so they thought—diplomatically.

They said the inauguration would be a quiet affair, of course. That was what the president wanted. That was what he'd said. Still, there would be a big parade.

There'd be stands, with seats at $2, $4 and $8, to view the parade from. There'd be a court of honor. There'd be a big inaugural ball.

These different items were added on, inconspicuously, from time to time. Nobody would realize, so the managing committee assumed, that a monster celebration was being built up bit by bit.

Coolidge Got Wise.

Unfortunately President Coolidge did notice that, a little at a time, the inaugural ceremonies were swelling up and up and up.

Then, once more, item by item, he began cutting them down.

He wouldn't attend the inaugural ball. He never said he would but the committee had calculated that, at the last minute, he'd have to.

He vetoed the court of honor. The parade? From a pageant which would have taken hours and hours to get past "a given point" he trimmed it to 45 minutes at most.

Regrettably the committee is returning the money it had collected, to provide the classiest inauguration in this country's history.

Still more regrettably it has notified Congress it had better take back its appropriation of funds to pay for fireworks and the decoration of "historic sites."

President Coolidge, it appears, wants to be inaugurated quietly and inexpensively. The committee hadn't known this before.

Mrs. Raizen and Cooneys Prove Model Prisoners

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Celia Cooney, Brooklyn's erstwhile "bobbed-haired bandit," and her husband, Edward Cooney, who for a time successfully defied the police and terrorized the community in which they operated, have undergone a metamorphosis in Auburn Prison, where they are serving terms of ten to twenty years each, according to Warden Jennings.

They are two of Auburn's three "model prisoners," the warden declared. The third is Mrs. Lillian Raizen, convicted in Brooklyn of the murder of Dr. Abraham Glickstein. Her conviction has just been confirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Mrs. Cooney has permitted her hair to grow, with the result that in Warden Jennings' opinion, she is now "an unusually attractive young woman." She has carefully clung to the $2,000 paid to her by a news service bureau for the story of her life, and plans to use it to establish her husband in the welding business when they are once more free.

The husband, the warden said, recently lost his left hand as a result of an accident while at work in the prison. Instead of this making him bitter, the warden declared, it brought out the best in him.

Mrs. Raizen, the warden reported, is "calm, kind and gentle—always ready to help others."

COUNTY WILL GET $67,881 TO ASSIST IN ROAD MAKING

Total of $7,011,112.23 Is Collected By State From Motorists

'FLAT FEE' RULING DECREASES AMOUNT

Nearly One-half of Entire Amount Gathered Given to Los Angeles

The division of motor vehicles today made public a financial statement showing a total of $7,011,112.23 was collected from California motorists in motor vehicle fees during 1924. The bulk of this money has been apportioned to the highway commission and the various counties for road repair purposes. Orange county's apportionment was $67,881.08.

All registrations for 1924 increased 20.5 per cent the fees collected for the year showed a loss of $3,584,749.06 over 1923, due to the fact that the motor vehicle act of 1923 made substantial decreases in the fees charged for licensing vehicles by substituting the "flat fee" for the old horsepower ratings.

Fees were collected from the following sources: Automobile licenses, $3,594,636.27; pneumatic truck licenses, $1,283,745.54; solid truck licenses, $1,156,631.17; motorcycle licenses, $42,498.55; trailer licenses, $180,229; auto dealers, $42,681.50; motorcycle dealers, $447; trailer dealers, $147; transfers, $404,135.60; miscellaneous, $42,087.85.

These fees are subject to equal apportionment to the highway commission and counties after a 20 per cent deduction is made for expenses of the department. Non-apportionable fees amounting to $221,681 in chauffeur licenses and $42,192.15 in duplicate operators licenses were also collected.

The total apportionment to the counties for the year amounted to $2,837,672.42 after deductions amounting to $295,135.90 were made for the salaries of traffic officers. The highway commission received $3,079,658.85 as its share for the year.

Although the law gives the division permission to spend 20 per cent of its motor vehicle collections for expenses it actually spent only 7 per cent, thus turning back a saving amounting to $700,000 for apportionment purposes.

Nearly one-half of the money apportioned to the counties, or $1,238,793.98, went to Los Angeles county. San Francisco was second with $239,903.62 and Alameda third with $208,061.46. Apportionments to other counties are shown by the accompanying table.

Well known in automobile circles of Orange county is O. R. Haan, local dealer for the Cadillac, who for the past eight years, has been located at the present place of business at the northern corner of Second and Main streets.

In connection with the spacious sales room there is also a large service garage. Haan has added to his line the Hupmobile which is now appearing in the straight eight model. He has had the Hupmobile agency for about six years. During the time that Haan has been engaged in the automobile industry in this city he has sold 404 Cadillacs, 275 Hupmobiles and 979 used cars. Haan's establishment is one of the largest in the county as he has in his employ 26 persons.

Haan has many outside interests and is an enthusiastic booster for Orange county and all civic movements that will be beneficial to the county. Externally he is a member of all the Masonic orders including the Shriners. He also is a member of the Elks.

In club life he is affiliated with the Kewans, the Los Angeles Athletic Club and the Orange County Country club.

Haan is very popular with all who know him and he enjoys a very large circle of friends. He is fond of golf and admits that he would rather fish than eat.

NEW FRANKLIN SEDAN TO BE SHOWN IN S. A.

Handsome Models Embody Many Distinct Changes In Body Construction

Differing radically from any models preceding it, a sedan of the Series 11 Franklin will be on display here on Monday. It was announced today by H. A. Shugart, of Shugart and Son, local Franklin representatives.

The Franklin is announcing seven new body styles in addition to its old line, the new creations carrying the hood style used by water-cooled motor vehicles. The styles are the creation of De Causse, custom body builder.

"From the point of view of the man in the street, the most striking thing about the new models is the radical way in which they differ from anything that Franklin ever has produced in the past," H. A. Shugart said.

"The foreign style which the new creations reflect is the outstanding note in the eye of the motor designer. The lines, proportions and detail work of series 11 Franklin combine smartness and conservatism in a way heretofore not found in American stock design."

"Introduction of the new series, however, does not mean that the series 10-C, the high powered Franklin introduced in July, last year, is discontinued."

New Lines, Proportions

"Some of the more particular features of the new model Series 11 are, of course, the entirely new lines and proportions, slightly longer wheelbase and lower-slung chassis. Overall height has been noticeably reduced, yet head room and ground clearance remain the same. Fenders are crowned and beautifully molded. All this adds tremendously to the good appearance of the car. Yet the changes which first strike the eye are those in the hood.

"The straight radiator effect is now introduced into the Franklin lines, along with a broad nickel-plated radiator shell. Flat nickel-plated bars, three in number, down the front, terminating in a circle of the same material, give the head-on view an effect which is both entirely individual and surprisingly handsome."

"Seven types are available, five enclosed, as follows: Sedan, sport sedan, coupe, cabriolet, enclosed-drive limousine, touring and sport runabout. Of these the sport sedan, cabriolet and sport runabout are new to the Franklin line, and the coupe is radically different."

Distinct Departures

The two open cars are a distinct departure from ordinary open car standards in America, the purpose being to furnish a touring and runabout which both in style requirements and in power performance will cater to the most exacting and discriminating motorists.

"Foremost in interest among the closed cars is the cabriolet—the latest in strictly chauffeur-driven cars, and the first noteworthy American response to the demand

EXAMINATION OF AUTOISTS BY STATE IS NOT FAVORED

Orange Man Writes Letter to Auto Editor to Oppose Movement

ROAD HOGS BLAMED FOR MOST CRASHES

Maintains Average Driver Would Have No Trouble In "Getting By"

By HORACE FINE (Auto Editor of Register)

Adoption of a law requiring motorists to take examinations before being granted a license to operate an automobile would not eliminate accidents or reduce the number very materially, in the opinion of W. E. Thomas, of Orange, who this week wrote me a highly interesting letter commenting on such a law and on situations responsible for auto accidents. In brief he does not believe that examination would reduce the number of careless drivers.

Although his communication is somewhat lengthy, I am giving space to the letter, as Thomas presents his facts in a very readable form. Here it is:

"Much has been said and written about passing a law requiring every driver of a motor vehicle to pass an examination before they can receive a drivers' license, and some supporters of the proposed law seem to think that it would eliminate accidents to a minimum, if not entirely stop them."

"But let us take a survey of the accident field and the class of drivers who are causing the accidents. The great bulk of accidents are caused by speeding on the roads and at intersections, in passing vehicles on the road and cutting in and crowding others off the road."

Blames "Road Hogs"

"All of these accidents are caused by reckless driving. These drivers know how to drive. They are among the best drivers on the roads and when taking their examinations they would be right on their good behavior and they would get by every time and get their licenses."

"Another class of drivers that are causing a lot of accidents, who would get by and get their licenses, are the road hogs. The meanest of all road hogs on the roads are the ones that drive slowly along until you attempt to pass them and then they speed up and keep you from passing, and when you find that you can't get by, you have got your machine in such motion that you can't slacken speed enough to get in behind him in time to prevent colliding with his win brother road hog, who seeing the predicament that you are in, puts on all speed and does his best to collide with you because you are on the wrong side of the road. These hogs are in the same class; the meanest of all road hogs on the road. They cause a lot of the accidents, and no doubt they get some real thrills from this sort of sport. They ought to get stiff jail sentences, but have never heard of one of them being pulled for this—their very enjoyable cent man who gets the blame in these cases, and gets the punishment because he was on the wrong pastime. Invariably it is the innocent side of the road. The proposed

Structure Over Santa Ana River Will Be Opened Saturday, March 21

Formal dedication and opening of the new coast line highway between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach will take place on Saturday, March 21. It was announced today by J. A. Armistead, of Huntington Beach, secretary of the South Coast Improvement association, following approval of that date by S. V. Cortleyon, district engineer for the state highway commission, and J. L. McBride, superintendent of Orange county highways.

To N. T. Edwards, of Orange, member of the state commission, has been accorded the honor of removing at the bridge across the Santa Ana river the barriers that have blocked use of the highway between the two beach cities.

Committees will be appointed at once to arrange details of celebration the association being composed of beach cities along the coast.

Invitations already have been extended to a large number of officials of the southland and to prominent citizens to participate in the ceremonies.

In company with others newspapermen of this city and a group of business men of Huntington Beach, the automobile editor of The Register this week drove to the new bridge on the highway spanning the Santa Ana river in a Studebaker Big Six seven passenger sedan, placed at disposal of the group by Potter Bowles, of the Bowles Motor company, Studebaker dealer. Fred Ross, sales manager for the agent, handled the wheel, driving the party to the bridge at a speed that dare not be mentioned here for

THE Ford car has remained the undisputed leader for value in the motoring world.

There are certain fundamental reasons why this is true. It is a car, properly designed and staunchly constructed, having a motor which has proved itself reliable, long-lived and economical.

It is adequately serviced by an organization reaching to every community and neighborhood.

These combine to give the Ford car the highest resale value in proportion to list price.

And as production volume of the Ford has grown the purchase price has been steadily reduced.

NAME NEWPORT AS AGENT FOR AUTO FINISH

C. L. Newport, of the Decho Enameling company, 417 West Fifth street, today announced that he had been appointed by the Glidden company as county agent for its lacquer finish on motor cars.

Pointing out that 72 per cent of the motor car factories bake at some stage in the painting of their cars, Newport said that the Glidden company had awarded him its product because in his local plant he is equipped for baking.

"Glidden's lacquer is the outcome of years of experimenting and experience from furnishing materials to the leading automobile manufacturers," Newport said. "With its use our work here becomes in every way 'factory work'. The product is not new and is placed on the market only after it has been proven to be right."

"I have it from officials of the company that by the end of 1925 between twenty and thirty leading automobile factories will be applying Glidden's lacquer on all models at the factories. At this time more than a dozen factories are using this product, but they are not generally making this fact known."

"A majority of the models of the Studebaker company at this time are coming through with Glidden's, and no complaints have been heard, although the lacquer has been in use by the company for more than six months."

"Potter Bowles, of the Bowles Motor company, local distributor for the Studebaker, says: 'Glidden's lacquer is absolutely satisfactory and we can make no statement too strong as to the quality. We have had no complaints from customers and I think that Glidden's is the best motor car finish made today.'"

"The company has placed a positive guarantee against checking, peeling, cracking or discoloration. With such a backing I feel that the product is the finish for motorists who are discriminating and who want the best."

EXAMINATION FOR AUTOISTS OPPOSED

law would not eliminate the road hog drivers.

"If there was a little more of the Golden Rule interspersed with the automobile driving on the roads, there would be a lot less accidents and how much better it would be for everybody."

Back Out Suddenly

"Some accidents are caused by suddenly backing out into the street or driving out from the curb parking without looking back to make sure that no person or vehicle is coming. A lot of accidents are caused by careless inattention. The driver is looking to one side or the other, amusing himself sightseeing, taking in the scenery and objects of interest by the way-side, or in a good many cases, he is conversing with an occupant of the back seat, the back of his head where his eyes ought to be for safe driving, he is oblivious of car or pedestrians until a crash or an agonized scream reminds him that his eyes are supposed to be in front while he is driving a car."

"Inattention to signals and the careless indifferent way in which signals are given is the cause of lots of accidents. About half of the drivers on the road give the stop signal for the left turn signal and some give the left turn signal for the right turn. Some smart-Alex comes up the street at a 20 or 25-mile clip and when just ready to make a left turn they stick one finger or about half the length of the fingers out over the side of the car and whirl around the button in front of you apparently indifferent to right of way of car or pedestrian, just beat the other fellow to it, seems to be his sole object. Why so much hurry—ninety nine times out of a hundred he has nothing to do, no errand or business in view when he gets to his destination—just simply get there, that's all. The proposed law would not eliminate the careless driving, and I do not believe it would eliminate one per cent of the accidents; but it would be a sore annoyance to the people, and raise taxes hundreds of thousands of dollars."

"What we need a thousand times more than we need that law, is more motor cops. The same money that the law would cost the people in taxes, invested in hiring motor cops would do a hundred thousand times more in eliminating accidents, and we will eventually have to employ more motor cops, with the ever increasing amount of traffic combined with the increasing amount of reckless, careless driving that comes with it, it is impossible for the few traffic men we have to put a stop to accidents."

"Traffic officers should be empowered to enforce the law, and nab and arrest speeders and violators of traffic laws in anyway that they can catch them."

Favors Speed Trap.

"The speed trap should be re-established and about one-third of the traffic officers should be plain clothes men. About half of the automobile drivers seem to think the pedestrians have no rights on street or road. They whiz by at a twenty to thirty mile clip regardless of men, women or children. Women with babies in their arms, and little children on the streets have to look out for them and dodge them as best they can."

"The auto driver should be made to look out for the people, instead of looking out for his car in perfect control so that he can stop instantly when passing people on the streets, and if he bumps or carelessly runs one down he should be held strictly accountable for it. There is absolutely no need of the crashes and accidents that we are having, especially at intersections. One or both parties are to blame and generally in trying to beat the other fellow to it. If brakes are properly adjusted and drivers approach intersections cautiously, and at not more than 15 miles per hour, there would be no serious crashes at intersections."

"Of all the traffic accidents that have taken place in Orange county in the four years that I have lived in the county, I can recall only one death that was unavoidable and purely accidental on the part of the driver, and that was the death of the man killed near Capistrano when he deliberately jumped in front of Sheriff Jernigan's automobile. That man's own carelessness caused his death. The sheriff was in no way to blame."

"Two or three years ago a lady was killed near Irvine. Several cars were standing on each side of the road and people standing around and moving about. The lady was walking across from one side of the road to the other, and was struck down and killed by a passing automobile. That was pure carelessness on the part of that driver. When there are automobiles standing beside the road and people moving about on the road, a driver should slow down and proceed cautiously with his machine in such perfect control that he can stop within a few feet. He never can tell when some person will jump out from behind an automobile or a child will start running across the street."

"About a year ago a man was killed on the road between Santa Ana and Long Beach. He was driving alone in an automobile, and stopped by the roadside, to go and pick up his coat which the wind had whipped out of the back seat of his car onto the pavement. A car with several people in it was coming from the opposite direction. The lady driving sounded the horn, but the man went right along and just as he stooped to pick up his coat she ran over and killed him. There was an inquest held and the lady was exonerated, but if there was any reason given at that inquest why she could not have slackened speed and driven to one side or the other of that man, it was not stated in any account that I saw of the accident. Such killings ought not to be called accidents. They are pure carelessness, and such drivers should be severely punished."

"The proposed law would not stop the carelessness nor the accidents, but it would create a new board of commission of fat salaries officers to administer the law, and further impose on the already tax burdened people of the state as an addition to the political machine to assist in keeping high-ups in office it would be fine, but just the same, we will have to have quite a material increase to our police force before traffic accidents are eliminated."

"Respectfully,
"W. E. THOMAS.

By R. M. MORTON
State Highway Engineer

Reasons for budgeting state highway funds are not essentially different from those that govern similar practices in any modern business. The budget is simply a well thought out plan which takes into consideration the work to be done and the means at hand for its accomplishment. It paves the way for systematic progress.

Some eight million of construction funds have been expended to date upon the California state highway system. Several times this sum will be spent in the future before the work is completed, and after preliminary construction is finished maintenance and reconstruction will have to be financed. The proposal that this great expenditure be placed on an annual budget is merely an attempt to get it on a business basis, to carry it forward as efficiently and economically as possible.

No private enterprise involving expenditure of such magnitude could succeed without a definite plan; and the fact that the public credit of the State of California is back of highway building is no reason why it should be carried on other than as a highly efficient business.

Such a plan might not have been possible in the beginning of state construction under the first bond issues. The people at that time looked upon the highway work as something that would be accomplished in a few years, to be followed by the disbanding of the highway organization.

Today, the viewpoint is changed. The people realize that maintenance and reconstruction must go on indefinitely; and they are beginning to understand that completion of the designated highway system means many years of construction activity. It is becoming evident that a steady annual building program will complete the work and more smoothly than a spasmodic hit and miss policy which expends large sums one year and nothing the next.

The maintenance department, during 1924, counted traffic on the state system, at regular intervals, and these counts will be continued in the future. We now have reliable information as to the amount of traffic on the various sections of state highway.

This information is invaluable in many ways. We are studying it carefully prior to allotment of maintenance and reconstruction funds. With other factors it should be taken into consideration in planning a program for primary construction. A traffic count is a better and fairer way to support a highway budget than to have the citizenship believe that locations of expenditure have been determined by political expediency, or by any other of the numerous ways in which the public business is influenced.

How It Would Work
It is only nature that every citizen should want his particular road built first and should feel it to be more important than construction in some other part of the state; to him it is more important. But there is a chance to satisfy him, if the commission is in a position to say: "We are anxious to build a highway of so much annually in the future. Here is our budget, we believe it is the fairest plan for the extension of the highway system. We plan to build your road at such and such a time. We will make the surveys next year and the year after we will begin construction."

If the citizen knows the funds are coming in, he should rely on the statements of the commission. He will feel better about the matter than to be promised his road and then not get it. Bonds are voted and the commission temporarily has plenty of money; promises for construction are made right and left. The money runs out sooner than expected, and the roads are not built. The result is a disgruntled public opinion and a loss of confidence in the commission.

There is another very important reason why an annual income is desirable, and that is the effect upon the engineering and construction forces. An organization which is built up one year and decreased the next can never be as effective or efficient as a continuous one that improves with the experience of the years.

We know that such a plan would result in a more efficient and economical expenditure of public funds and there is every reason to believe that it would be received with much greater public satisfaction.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A campaign has been launched against "silver fox frauds," according to L. E. Holland, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world. It will be handled by the National Vigilance Committee of the association.

"Most of the frauds revolve around the supposition that silver fox pelts are extremely valuable," Holland said. "As a matter of fact, the bureau of statistics of the Dominion of Canada reports that the average price of these pelts has declined from $245 in 1919-1920 to $112.80 in 1922."

"The method of operation of a number of these companies is to buy the sale of animals for breeding purposes. They are sold on a co-operative plan whereby the purchaser of a pair of foxes is guaranteed a 100 per cent increase in their number.

"The operator of the farm retains the remainder of the progeny. These, in turn, are resold to other investors. It is a sort of endless chain proposition, in which the operator has little to lose and the purchaser bears the risk."

Time Limit for Filing License Slips Up Today

Today was the last day for filing applications for license renewals by automobile owners.

Those who file on and after Monday will have to pay a cash penalty, unless the motor vehicle department grants a few days of grace. There has been no indication that the supervisor of the division has any intention of extending the time.

In fact he has repeatedly given warning that a penalty would be exacted from all who failed to get their applications on file by the last day of February.

There are many automobiles in this city that are carrying license plates of last year. This does not mean that applications have not been filed, but it is very possible that the owners of many such cars have not complied with the law in respect to applications.

SEE SOLUTION OF DIFFICULTY ON COAST ROAD

Friction between the state highway commission and J. S. Thurston on location of the coast highway across Aliso canyon, below Laguna, today was in a fair way of being ironed out, following a visit to Laguna by S. V. Cortleyou, division engineer; N. T. Edwards, highway commissioner; J. L. McBride, county highway superintendent; Warren Hillyard, county surveyor, and George Jeffrey, supervisor, for a conference with the good roads' committee of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce. The committee is composed of Joe Skidmore, N. E. West and A. B. Marshall.

According to the committee's report to the board of directors of the chamber, the compromise offer of Thurston virtually was agreed to, the compromise being the location of the road 75 to 200 feet inland from the route originally surveyed.

Cortleyou is to submit a map, showing the original course and the compromise route, the latter to be 75 to 80 feet inland from the former.

It was said that Cortleyou pointed out that the change would involve the expenditure of several thousand dollars more than would the original course.

In its report to the chamber directors, the committee said that Cortleyou virtually had agreed to a change to show a spirit of co-operation, although the selected route was the best from an engineering standpoint. An agreement also was reached, the report said, by which the state will make provision for a driveway under the bridge so that the ocean front at Aliso will be easily accessible to the public.

REPAINT MARKINGS OF STREET STALLS

Repainting of lines for parking stalls was in progress today on the downtown streets.

The markings had become almost entirely obliterated, causing considerable irregularity in spacing of automobiles parked against the curbs.

Complaints were being heard about careless drivers parking in such a manner that two automobiles frequently "killed" space for three.

This condition was more pronounced at night than in the daytime, the reason being, perhaps, because drivers could not at night see the lines on the curbs.

Turning buttons throughout the city also are being repainted in line with the spring renovation idea.

Uninvited Give Host Problem at Masked Ball

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—A masked ball in Washington society presents a most difficult problem for the host and hostess.

Sir Auckland and Lady Geddes tried it at the British embassy a few years ago.

Several hundred uninvited guests, their identity concealed by their masks, ate all the refreshments before the invited congressmen and government officials arrived. Prince Caetani, retiring Italian ambassador, recently gave a masquerade and required that all the guests unmask at the door. Special admittance cards also were sent out the day before the party, as another means of keeping out the uninvited.

Best Man Dressed Too Well for Part; Held for Bigamy

BIRKENHEAD, Eng., Feb. 28.—James Bellis came down to breakfast all dolled up.

"Hurry up the breakfast, I am going to be the best man at a wedding," said James to Mrs. Bellis. "You look more like a bridegroom than a best man," was the witty retort and little did she know that she spoke as a prophet. James is serving a term for bigamy, because he was the bridegroom and not the best man.

HINTS ARE GIVEN AS TO WHAT TO SAY IN LETTERS TO YOUR FRIENDS BACK EAST

If, like the writer of the letter in juxtaposition herewith, you want material for use in the letter you are going to write to your "old home" paper, you will find a lot of it in The Register of Thursday, Feb. 26—and in preceding and succeeding issues.

But in an effort to comply more specifically with the request of "A Register Reader" the following is submitted:

To go more into detail and to indicate the great diversity of our crops, let me give you the figures (official) on our principal products: Apples, $150,000; Apples, $100,000; Avocados, $75,000; Beans, $2,000,000; Berries (all kinds) $250,000; Celery, $175,000; Dairy Products (all kinds) $800,000; Fish (salt water) $160,000; Fruits (miscellaneous) $500,000; Grain (barley, corn, wheat) $1,000,000; Hay (alfalfa, barley, oat, bean, etc.) $1,500,000; Honey, $75,000; Lemons, $5,000,000; Live Stock, $1,250,000; Loquats, $50,000; Nursery Stock, $500,000; Oil, gasoline natural gas, $500,000; Olives and Olive Oil, $50,000; Oranges (90 pct. Valencia) $15,000,000; Peppers (chili and pimiento) $1,500,000; Persimmons, $35,000; Poultry and Eggs, $1,250,000; Potatoes (all kinds) $500,000; Sugar (beet and by-products) $8,000,000; Tomatoes and Seed, $250,000; Vegetables (miscellaneous) $500,000; Walnuts, $4,000,000.

In 1923 the town of Santa Ana, with a population of 25,000 to 30,000 people, issued building permits aggregating over $5,000,000, and in 1924 its building permits were over $2,000,000. Figuring the rate at which building permits have been issued during 1925, the total will run this year close to $3,000,000. Does that sound like we are poverty stricken?

Bank deposits in Santa Ana amount to over $15,000,000, and despite all the "drouth" and "plague" and "breadline" stories that have been printed, savings bank deposits increased in 1924 as compared with 1923, both in volume and number of accounts.

And Orange County and Santa Ana are just fair examples of the whole of Southern California. Some towns have even a bigger proportionate building and bank records than ours—towns such as Glendale and Long Beach, for instance. The Los Angeles figures are so big that nobody would understand them if they believed them if I could remember them or command them to include in this statement.

If you can't find room for this letter or any part of it, I'd be glad to have you quote me in your paper as saying that general conditions here are good and that any news stories to the contrary are untrue.

Thanking you in advance,
Sincerely yours,

There have been some terribly exaggerated, misleading and false stories about California printed in many eastern papers, and the editor of our local paper here has suggested that his readers should write to their "old home paper," stating the facts about conditions in this state, and asking this "old home editor" to print them. He says that nine out of ten editors are perfectly fair and broad-minded, and that in the interests of truth most of all of them will print letters from people whom they know to be intelligent and honest in presenting the facts.

For instance, take that story about the pneumonic plague in Los Angeles. The most awful and utterly false stories imaginable were printed in the eastern papers about that. Some of these stories said that the dead were left lying in the streets, and that whole districts were burned in the effort to stamp out the plague; that hundreds were dying every day, and so on.

As a matter of fact, some sort of deadly disease did wipe out a family of Mexicans—or almost the whole family,—and before it could be stamped out a few others died. Maybe ten or 15 people in all. But cities and counties and state health officials took the matter in hand promptly, and thoroughly eradicated all traces of the disease within less than ten days. The very fact that California will not take chances on any kind of disease spreading and becoming epidemic, gives such outbreaks as this wide local publicity and results in these wild stories going all through the country.

To the same cause may be assigned the greatly exaggerated and false stories that were printed about the hoof and mouth disease devastating the cattle of this state. The hoof and mouth disease did break out in some of the central counties—two of three of them,—from which it was carried to Los Angeles county, and from that county into the adjoining county of Orange. But state and federal and county authorities, as well as owners of stock, united as one man to stamp the disease out, and it was stamped out in a very short time. True, it cost some money and several valuable herds of cattle were sacrificed. During the prevalence of the disease, stringent quarantine measures were enforced, and some little inconvenience to travel and business were experienced. But so far as any serious community loss or general impairment of business is concerned, there is absolutely nothing to the stories that have been printed to that effect.

Santa Ana, Calif., Feb. 25, 1925.
Editor Register:—I would like to have you print a letter to send to the "old home" paper.

I am a newcomer here and like it fine, but I don't have the statistics I need for such a letter.
A REGISTER READER.

at a rate that would be a marvel to the average eastern state or section of country. Tremendous and high priced crops are being produced, factories are being started, road building is in progress on a large scale—in short, probably there is more business activity in Southern California as a whole than in any other section of the United States of equal size.

For example, take in our own little county, smallest in the state in area, and its county seat, Santa Ana. Orange county produced in 1923 over $100,000,000 out of its soil and about an equal amount in 1924. About half of this came from the oil fields, but even $50,000,000 worth of agricultural products in a little county like this ought to convince anyone that this county is tremendously prosperous and prolific.

PEACHES COME VERY DEAR IN LONDON TOWN

BY MILTON BRONNER
LONDON, Feb. 28.—London has fruit from all over the world. And some of it is cheaper than in the United States. Others again are higher than almost any place in the world.

Oranges always sell at reasonable prices. Peaches sometimes almost bring their weight in gold. Just now the shops are filled with peaches from South Africa. A fairly good one costs 12 cents. A better one brings 25 cents.

Peddlers on the streets sell them at 4 cents each. However, there is a catch. You see them lying in tissue paper with a rosy, blushing side, looking very alluring.

But the other side is quite spoiled. In other words, they are selling at 4 cents each stuff that an American street peddler would not even have the nerve to offer for sale.

Speaking of fruit, the new fox-trot, "Eat More Fruit," has just begun to sweep over London. The refrain has given great offense to the meat trade here. You may remember it:

"Eat more fruit; eat more fruit."
"Don't eat mutton, don't eat lamb."
"Don't eat beef and don't eat ham!"
"Eat more fruit!"

Smithfield Market is the great distributing center for London's meat business. And out there all the men are cursing this fox-trot as a subtle piece of anti-meat propaganda.

Therefore, it was proposed the meat men should secure another fox-trot with propaganda verses of their own.

But all the Smithfield poets fell down on the job until Bill Smith, the champion heaver of beef carcasses, came through with this:

"Eat no fruit; eat no fruit!"
"Just eat mutton and like-wise lamb."
"Just eat beef and lots of ham!"
"Eat no fruit!"

In literary and Bohemian Paris there is no more well beloved figure than Paul Fort, who long ago was elected Prince of Poets, because of his wonderful series of Ballades Françaises.

The Parisians think they know all his curves, but he pulls a new stunt on them every once in a while.

The other night the first performance of his poetic play, "Ysabeau," was given.

When the curtain fell on the last scene a tremendous demand was made by the audience for the author. Fort was nowhere to be found. Just as soon as the audience disappeared, Fort strolled casually into the manager's office.

"Where on earth have you been?" asked that personage. "I have been looking for you in vain. The audience was clamoring for you."

"I know it," said the smiling poet. "I was up in the gallery yelling for the author at the top of my voice."

In this town the advice, "Follow your nose," is sometimes literally carried out.

For instance, in the last black London fog the driver of a certain bus was new to the route. The conductor was an old hand. The following conversation took place:

New Bus Driver—Where are we now, Bill?

Old Bus Conductor—Can't tell for certain. (Sniffs). Oh yes, we are near the brewery. Turn to your left.

"Listen, we must be down by the Thames. Sound like the whistle of a ship trying to dock."

"No, that's the jam factory. Turn to your right."

"Where are we now?"

"Go straight on. I smell the gas works."

MIDDIES CLAIM EXAMINATIONS MUCH STIFFER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Although Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson answered "Ridiculous!" when asked if the authorities at Annapolis, where he is naval academy superintendent, really are trying to "freeze out" as many as they can of the 1927 class of midshipmen, nevertheless, the feeling among the midshipmen themselves is that those of their number who finally get their commissions certainly will have earned them.

The 1927 class of "middles" had the bad luck, as they see it, to enter the academy in 1923, just after naval armament reduction had become a national policy.

There were nearly 1000 of them. Obviously, however, if the navy was going to be cut down, fewer officers would be needed.

Work Made Harder
Congress saw this, and before the end of 1923 so drastically reduced the number of appointments of new midshipmen that the 1923 class, entering in 1924, numbered less than 400.

So here was the 1927 class more than twice as large as it ought to have been—or so the "middles" think the academy authorities look at it.

With the idea of getting it down to reasonable proportions, according to the embryo naval officers, their instructors have made their work so difficult that men have been dropping out at a rate never before heard of in the academy's history.

At any rate, it is a fact that, by the January examinations this year, the class had been reduced to about 675, and in the January examinations approximately 100 more were "biled"—that is, failed to pass.

Record, Say Middles
Upon three successive failures of this sort in the regular monthly examinations, midshipmen are dropped, or "permitted to resign," which is the more euphonious official way of expressing it.

Admiral Wilson's version is that 1927 class failures have not been especially numerous, considering the class' size, but he admits he doesn't know just what the figures are.

The "middles" assert that if he'll look them up, he'll find they constitute a record by a wide margin.

None Can Copy Its Chief Value

The Chassis is Patented

Essex is a totally different type. It gives results no other car ever gave.

Low price, without disappointment in looks or reliability.

Economy without sacrifice of performance.

Stability and highest roadability without unnecessary weight.

The riding ease of large, costly cars. The handling ease of a bicycle. Utter simplicity in design.

The lowest maintenance cost, we believe, of any car in the world.

Two of every three Essex buyers come to it from those who formerly owned cars bought chiefly for their low first price.

Just as the Coach body and Coach name have been extensively copied, even by costliest cars, so must future mechanical design seek to approximate the results Essex gives.

But the patents which make the Super-Six the most enduring, smoothest motor and give it all advantages, also prevent any from copying its chassis.

Surely you cannot be satisfied with less than Essex offers. Its cost is but little more than cars of the lowest price.

END CHAPLIN'S BAGGY PANTS' MAKE UP SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—Charles Chaplin's suit to restrain competitors from using his baggy pants and other trick screen properties was ended today, following final arguments by opposing counsel.

Judge John L. Hudner, who heard the case, will not make a decision for several weeks, meanwhile making a thorough study of the evidence.

Attorneys for Charles Amador, chief defendant, ridiculed the "spirituality" of the "Chaplin character" in their closing arguments. "I have found Chaplin's antics funny, but I never got a spiritual kick out of them," Attorney Ben Goldman declared.

The Province of Manitoba has approximately $13,000,000 bonds falling due this year, and provision is being made by the legislature to meet them.

Against these loans, the province has about $2,000,000 in cash and securities available; $1,000,000 is money derived from sale of provincial lands which, under legislation of 1918, is applicable to reduction of capital debt.

About $356,000 has been received from municipalities in connection with housing.

MITCHELL'S FUTURE UP TO COOLIDGE

have authority to force Mitchell to resign.

Representative Prall, New York, Democrat, brought out from Weeks 000,000 from congress and was finally granted $250,000,000 and that $25,000,000 was deducted from the $250,000,000 originally asked by the army service.

Weeks denied that the army general staff interfered with air service appropriations.

The army now has not sufficient aircraft, he said, in response to a question. Of the 1,592 planes owned by the army, 829 are "serviceable," he said.

"Have you any officer in the war department who knows as much about aviation conditions throughout the world as General Mitchell?" Prall asked.

"No," Weeks admitted.

"He is the one man," said Prall, "who knows more first hand information from Europe than any other man."

"He knows more from personal observation," said Weeks, "although he didn't get much from Japan."

Weeks was called primarily to testify to the number of planes now available in the army for service following issuance of a war department press statement which said that 1200 serviceable planes were ready for operation.

The committee's questions were forestalled, however, by a letter from Weeks to Representative Perkins, N. J., committee examiner, stating on authority of Major General Mason Patrick, chief of the army air service and Mitchell's immediate superior, that the status of the army planes on September 30, 1924, was:

Training planes, 471; observation planes, 820; bombardment planes, 102; pursuit planes, 190, and attack planes, 9, a total of 1592.

"Of these planes 829 are now in commission and 763 are in storage," Weeks said. "Of those in storage 140 have been built since the war, the remainder being war stock."

"Pursuit and bombing planes in use by the air service are approximately the equal of similar types employed by other nations in the world," Weeks said Patrick told him.

Says Testimony Uncalled For

"An increased number of planes is urgently needed by the air service but the situation indicated here is not as deplorable as certain testimony would lead you to believe," Weeks said.

Comparison of figures with pre-war days, Weeks said, "disproves the charge that development of the air service has been neglected."

"No policy affecting the air service is decided until the chief of the service (General Patrick) has a chance to express his views."

PRESIDENT OF GERMANY DIES

date of the Right while Wilhelm Marx, who recently resigned as premier of Prussia, is expected to be left.

There is some talk, however, that former premier Cuno will be the Right candidate and Herr Loeb, president of the Reichstag, candidate for the Left. The situation arising in Ebert's death with no provision for an immediate successor, probably will lead to a constitutional amendment, establishing the office of vice president in the future.

Was Self-Made Man

Frederich Ebert was a self-made man. The first president of Germany carried out the traditional ideals of democracy, having risen from a poor saddler's apprentice to the presidency of the republic.

Ebert was born in Prussia at Heidelberg in 1871. Following his apprenticeship he satisfied an early desire to mingle in politics by becoming editor of a newspaper.

He took an active interest in the political affairs of Bremen, where he was then located. His rise to fame was rapid. Successively, he became labor secretary of his party and chairman of the central committee of the working youth of Germany.

Ebert rode into the Reichstag on the great Socialistic wave of 1912. Then, following the turbulent days of war, Ebert, in 1918, delivered the Socialist ultimatum to the monarchist government, demanding abdication of the kaiser and establishment of a republic.

During 1918 and 1919 Ebert directed the provisional transition government and when the Weimar convention adopted the Republican constitution in 1919 Ebert was named president.

fifth of the general staff of the army. Weeks said, pointing out that this was the same percentage as the infantry, engineers and coast artillery each had.

Defends Our Air Policy

"The present organization of the air service, as provided in the war department's plans and policies, drawn in accordance with the national defense act, is, in my opinion, sound," Weeks said.

"To make this policy effective, an appropriation of $25,000,000 a year for ten years will be necessary, of which $10,000,000 will be for operation and $15,000,000 for aircraft."

"The war department is carrying out the program as far as available funds have permitted. When the program is completed and the pay, etc., of personnel is included, the program of the war department will cost approximately $60,000,000 annually."

Denies Officers "Muzzled"

Weeks denied that any army officers had been "muzzled" in the air controversy.

Admiral U. S. Sims yesterday before the committee, attacked the bombing tests of the battleship Washington. He said they also failed to impress him.

"If an air bomb," said Sims, "does nothing more than slow down a battleship, it means the loss of that ship to the fleet."

Asked to relate some of his experiences in the navy, Sims said his service constituted mainly "in getting into trouble with the principal dignitaries."

Sims said that many of his reports on his navy service were burned by orders of the navy department.

"You cannot imagine what opposition you meet sometimes," he added.

"A government surrounded by itself is the most conceited thing in the world. If this government sends a man abroad and he makes reports in direct contradiction with previous reports, they say he has been captured by the enemy."

Best "British Admiral"

"I gained the reputation of being the best admiral in the British navy. I received little aid from Washington during the first few months of my command of the Atlantic fleet."

"When I told them the truth about England's dire condition, they wouldn't believe me."

"Would you have battleships in the navy?" asked Representative Perkins, New Jersey, the committee examiner.

Sims said he did not believe battleships could control the sea against another fleet equipped with aircraft.

Airplanes and submarines are the greatest need of the American navy, Sims declared.

Says Battleship Not So Important

Sims, under questioning, said his idea of a modern fleet was "surface craft and submarines." Airplanes are of paramount necessity and the battleship is no longer "the backbone" of sea control, he said, in earlier testimony.

"Our position in the Pacific is unfortunate," said Sims. "We are absolutely hamstrung without a Pacific naval base. It is absolutely essential that the line of communication be kept open, but if Guam were seized we could not go to the Philippines until it was recaptured. We could not get by there as long as another power held it; we could not go there as it would leave our whole line of communication open to attack."

Sims criticized the United States for agreeing in the Washington disarmament conference not to fortify Guam.

Armament Race Continues

He charged that, despite the Washington conference, "the race in armament is still going on."

"Great Britain has 50 cruisers; Japan has 30, built or building. Japan has laid down about 80,000 tons of submarines since the war. "Notwithstanding the fact that General Mitchell may be a little over-enthusiastic," he has done enormous benefit for the defenses of the country in bringing up this issue."

CALIFORNIA ORANGE MARKET IS HIGHER

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—(Office of the Fruit World).—Four months of the 1924-25 California orange season have now passed. Total shipments for this period show 1121 less cars of oranges than for the corresponding period last season. Shipments of Florida oranges to date, are 508 cars less than the grapefruit movement shows a gain of 501 cars over the corresponding period last season.

The market on sound Navelas, packed under well known brands is steadily improving. Price advances of from 25¢ to 50¢ per box were recorded this week on small sizes. There is a healthy tone to the situation in now day, the situation is most satisfactory. What the next thirty days holds in store in the way of weather will largely influence market conditions.

Rains Help

The interior markets are opening up in good shape and will soon be taking their full quota of Navelas.

Recent rains, although light, are helping the sowing of the fruit according to growers.

The demand for California lemons is good although somewhat lighter than a week ago.

P. O. b. California quotations are on a basis of $5.00 per box for Choice 360s to Extra Choice 300s sizes.

There are on hand and available for sale within the next thirty days in all United States ports approximately 157 cars of foreign lemons. For the corresponding period last season there were 45 cars; 1923, 418 cars and 1922, 353 cars.

FIFTH EPISODE
FATHER & SON

AFTER LISTENING TO RICHMOND RICH'S STORY OF HIS PAST, HAZEL KNUTT, THE DETECTIVE, ADVISES THE OLD BANKER TO TELL HIS SON ALL ABOUT THE BLACKMAIL PLOT.

HE WILL BE ABLE TO UNDERSTAND WHAT THE WORLD MIGHT NOT. YOU TOLD ME WHEN YOU'RE YOUNG TO SAVE YOUR MOTHER'S LIFE. TELL HIM THE STORY YOU HAVE JUST TOLD ME. HE WILL BE PROUD OF YOU, SIR.

IT IS A STRANGE CASE AND IT INTERESTS ME. I SHALL HAVE TO CALL IN ONE ASSISTANT AS YOU WILL UNDERSTAND TO MORROW. MEANWHILE LET ME TAKE THIS PIGEON WITH ME!

HELLO, GOV'NOR - WHY SO DOWN-HEARTED? YOU LOOK AS IF YOU'D LOST YOUR LAST FRIEND.

ROGER RICH, WHOSE MOTHER HAD DIED WHEN HE WAS BUT A BABY AND WHO HAS RECENTLY BEEN MADE PRESIDENT OF HIS FATHER'S BANK.

THE OLD BANKER TELLS HIS SON IN DETAIL OF HIS PRISON RECORD AND OF THE INGENUOUS BLACKMAIL SCHEME NOW BEING USED TO FORCE MONEY OUT OF HIM.

AW, DON'T CRY, DAD! I USED TO THINK YOU WERE THE GREATEST MAN IN THE WORLD AND NOW I KNOW IT. GOSH, WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL ME BEFORE, OLD TIMER?

WHILE IN THE OLD FARM HOUSE THE MYSTERIOUS BLACKMAILER "MR. X" DECIDES TO MAKE HIS LAST HAUL.

WHEN MY PIGEON RETURNS WITH THE $10,000 BILL TIED TO HIS LEG I'LL CALL IT QUITS WITH THE OLD GENT.

S. A. ANAHEIM GIRLS BATTLE TO THIRD TIE

For the third time this year the Anaheim and Santa Ana girls' hockey teams battled to a tie yesterday afternoon.

The Anaheim team still is undefeated. Miss Alverda West, the team's most green material has built a formidable outfit that could "take" almost any team in Southern California. One defeat in two years is a record that almost any team could be proud of.

WILLARD JUNIOR 5 WIN FROM LATHROP

In a highly exciting game the Frances E. Willard junior high school juniors by a score of 6 to 3 yesterday defeated the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school cage team.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—John ("Red") Oldham, left-handed pitcher formerly with the Detroit Tigers has been purchased by the Vernon Coast league club.

DEFEND NURMI FROM ATTACK. A. A. U. PLAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Investigation to find the source and the reasons for the attacks against Paavo Nurmi, Finland's star distance runner, probably will be started by officials of the Amateur Athletic Union.

The A. A. U. recently threatened with suspension the clubs affiliated with the organization which criticized Nurmi because he did not make new records every time he went on the track. It was pointed out then that many clubs were advertising him for races against time when it was clearly understood before he entered that he was only to give an exhibition.

WOMAN PLAYS HUNCH; NAMES SPEEDY RACING COLT NURMI

Here is the first picture of Nurmi, baby two-year-old racer, the property of Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, New York society woman.

When the celebrated Finn broke all running records in New York, Mrs. Whitney wired Clyde Phillips, trainer of the Green Tree stable, owned by her, as follows:

"I want you to pick out the best unnamed baby colt in my stables and name him after Paavo Nurmi. I want a colt that will up to the name of the great Finnish runner."

Mr. Phillips looked over Mrs. Whitney's two-year-olds which have never failed the starter and picked a big rangy fellow to call Nurmi.

Aside from paying tribute to Nurmi, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney is playing a hunch in naming one of her thoroughbreds after Finland's famous runner.

In 1922, when Gene Sarazen won the national open golf title, Mrs. Whitney named a two-year-old Sarazen, and he proved a wonder horse.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Casualties are beginning to make life miserable for Doc Woods, trainer of the New York Yanks. Nearly everyone has pains and aches all over.

$50,000 AN APPEARANCE IS FORECAST

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 28.—Only a few years, and radio concert artists will be drawing down $50,000 for a single broadcasting performance!

Syd Chaplin, brother of Charlie, earned quite a reputation in 1916 when he negotiated the first big movie salary, that of $13,000 a week for his brother. Now he forecasts another highflier in salaries, as soon as a radio singer has the courage to ask for it.

"Enormous strides are being made in perfecting radio whereby reception of radio numbers may be controlled to secure revenue from persons who listen in," says Chaplin.

Might Run Show

"Radio could even step into practical control of the amusement business of the world if perfectors are made in the apparatus whereby photography is combined with sounds so that the auditors may also see the artists they are listening to."

"Synchronized receiving sets may be installed by the big national radio broadcasters on the order of a pay station telephone so that a million or so subscribers can, by dropping a quarter in the slot, hear the concerts of the great artists."

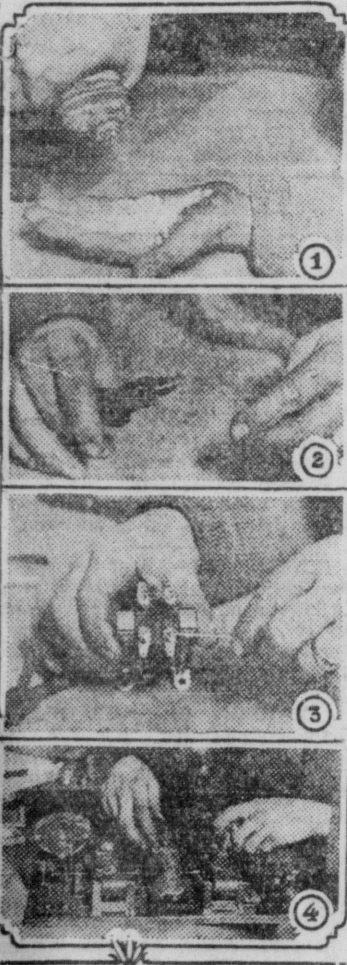

"Thus, if a million auditors pay a quarter each, the gross revenue for one performance could be a quarter of a million dollars. Twenty per cent to the artist—or $50,000—would not be an unreasonable amount to pay for the box-office talent thus broadcast."

Like Movies

The new developments which are reasonable to expect open up great possibilities for artists who have radio personalities. Only a few years ago people who predicted million-dollar salaries for picture stars were called crazy. Those big salaries were made possible because pictures could be shown in hundreds of cities at once.

"With radio, the possibilities are enlarged to a still greater degree, with the places where the performance can be heard and seen simultaneously increased thousands of times."

TRY 'EM

The fan who builds his own receiver will find considerable help in these simple hints. 1. Powder your hands with some soft talcum powder before winding coils. Insulation won't come off and wires will be worked more easily. 2. Bend bus wire with long nose pliers, so that a small circle of the wire can be made for terminal constructions. 3. Best connections are made with such circled connections and the nut screwed down tight. 4. Change tubes around every once in a while. They may give better results.

COURSE IN JOURNALISM

Mercer University, at Macon, Ga., is broadcasting a course in journalism through its 100-watt station, WMAZ. History and other subjects also are taught.

MYSTERY IN BOX

A mysterious box, a generator and a sheet of tin, shown above, are all the apparatus Dr. L. K. Adlon of Des Moines and Dr. C. A. Abbott of Oskaloosa, Ia., use to transmit "vibrations" which, they say, will cure diseases by radio. The receiving apparatus, for the "patient," is the simple tin shown in inset on the head of Dr. Adlon himself.

AIR FOOD COURSE

The University of Wisconsin has inaugurated a radio lecture course on home food problems, broadcast every Monday evening at 7:45 through its station WHA. The lectures are given by Mrs. Nellie Kedsie-Jones, head of the home economics extension work of the college of agriculture.

THIRD SHOW PLANNED

Positively the third and last radio show—for this year—is promised New York. This one will be conducted by the American Radio Relay League, March 2 to 7.

NEW SUPERSTATION

Station WHT is to be the call signal for a new superstation in Chicago. Its studio is in the Wrigley Building, William Hale Thompson, former mayor of Chicago, is one of its sponsors.

Fans on Air Trips To Stations

RICHMOND HILL, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Broadcasting Station WAHG, here, is taking its listeners on weekly trips to other well-known broadcasting stations.

This is being done by re-broadcasting part of the program of a distant station through WAHG's microphone. Trips are taken every Monday, Friday and Saturday night for about four hours after midnight.

Thus, fans with small sets in the east, can listen in to Stations KOA at Denver, KGO at Oakland, Calif., WCAL at Northfield, Minn., and many others.

WILL TEST SHORT WAVES FOR NAVY

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 28.—The Navy Department has called upon the American Radio Relay League to co-operate in experiments on the practicability of short wave transmission for naval use.

As a result, F. H. Schnell, traffic manager of the A. R. R. L. and an experienced amateur, is preparing to accompany the Pacific fleet during its maneuvers from April to October.

During that time Schnell will experiment with short wave transmitters, especially installed on the ship to which he will be assigned. He will try to communicate with amateurs on a wavelength of 54 or 55 meters and will also use two personal transmitters of 20 and 40 meters each.

The navy's intention is to ascertain how the range and capabilities of short wave transmitters compare with high-power sets. The success of amateurs in covering considerable distance by day with their short wave transmitters, while the longer wave sets seemed to lose their efficiency, has encouraged the navy to try this experiment.

These amateur sets have worked on one kilowatt power, as against sets with power as high as 30 kilowatts employed on the U. S. ships. Substitution of a low wave set with low power, and yet as great or greater efficiency, would mean considerable financial saving.

Schnell's testing station on board NRRL ship will have the call letters series, obtain about three-do sets of phones in six nuts to fit two brass screws placed on each side of the long and screw inserted in the set should be from the opposite side and the end. The phone cone other nuts placed between the is and tight-screw and the movabips then are ended.

Sharp tuning will be all possible if the coupling is cl keep the antenna circuit it im-isolated from the secondary circuit. The antenna lead should be as short as possible and as far from other wiring as possible.

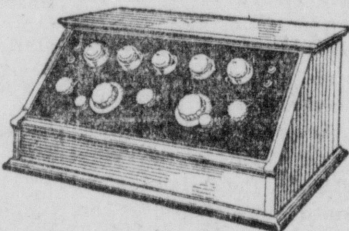

If your set requires a switch stop make one by boring a small hole beside the last switch point and bending a piece of bus wire so it will fasten on the point behind the panel and at the same time stick through the small hole you bored in the panel.

A baker's cookie pan will make a battery tray that will withstand the ravages of acid if it is painted several times with a coating made by dissolving old phonograph records in alcohol.

GOVERNORS' GREETING

Radio amateurs of the country are to be the means through whom governors of all the states in the union will send their greetings to President Coolidge on the day of his inauguration. The amateurs are being organized for this stunt.

KENNEDY MODEL XV

It cuts through the big town stations and brings in distance

HERE is the 5-tube set you asked us to build to meet conditions in this district. Through Kennedy dealers, we learned that hundreds of you wanted an ultra-selective radio receiver, combined with the usual Kennedy standards of simplicity of tuning, controlled volume, purity of tone—a set that would operate on an indoor aerial or loop.

All of these qualities you will find in Model XV. It is not like any other receiver you ever saw or heard. Kennedy engineers never imitate—they originate. And in this model, we offer you a real musical instrument—a distance reaching receiver that you can tune with two controls—one for each hand.

ZENITH RADIO

Super-Zenith IX—the ideal radio set for the fine home—built-in loud speaker, batteries concealed and out of the way.

They Cost More But They Do More

Only the Best is "Good Enough"

The difference between a radio set that "works"—even one that "works well"—and Zenith, is the difference between always longing for "something better" and the supreme pleasure of owning the best that money can buy.

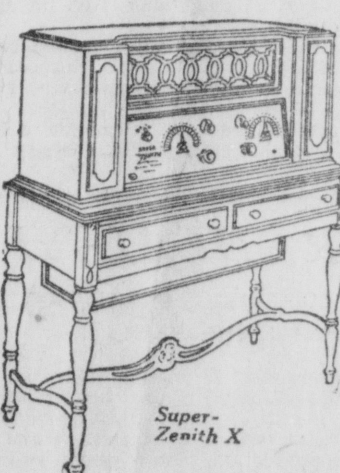

True, Zenith costs a bit more, but even after evening, month after month, year in and year out, you will thank your lucky stars that you paid that trifling difference and made sure of the best in radio results.

Tuning, for instance, so simple that with two dials only you can bring in every important station on the air clearly and in ample volume. Powerful locals may be on full blast, yet you tune straight through at will, get distant stations.

More stations in a given length of time than with any other make. Direct comparisons invited.

The proof that Zenith is the set you want is yours for the asking. Call this evening for a demonstration.
